President's Message

Building the Nation Builders of Tomorrow

Let me wish you all a Happy New Year marked by good health and prosperity!

Franklin D. Roosevelt once said 'we cannot always build the future of our youth, but we can build our youth for the future.' These words of Roosevelt very aptly describe the mission of Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust. Along with imparting sound education, we are providing our students a holistic learning experience for life i.e. not only to study but to learn in the true sense of the word. We aim that our students travel beyond the boundaries of mere books.

Youth of today are the nation builders of tomorrow. They are the agents of changes that are fast taking place in the world. Therefore mission of our Trust is to equip our students with leadership qualities and develop their personality. The knowledge that they will gain, the fine qualities that they will imbibe and the skills that they will learn in our respective institutions will be their major assets that they will apply towards the betterment of our society & nation. We at RSET are fortunate to have 16000 students daily coming in our campus to receive education in different institutions. All the students are nurtured by the staff of the respective institution.

Infrastructure plays a major role in supporting the learning environment of an institution and I feel happy at the fact that we have world class infrastructure that includes spacious class rooms, libraries that are well stocked with books, journals, magazines, e-books, e-journals & newspapers, specialized labs and facilities of sports. Our faculties are encouraged to take part in research activities resulting many of their publications in prestigious journals, obtaining Ph.D. degree and publication of books. Our institutions conduct a range of events from outreach programmes to sports and cultural activities that are greatly valued in today's global environment.

To give exposure to students with global environment of teaching-learning & industry, some of our institutions have collaborated with many foreign universities. Durgadevi Saraf Institute of Management Studies has recently signed an MOU with Phoenix Consultants, USA to enable faculty and students to visit universities of USA to enhance academic collaborations. DSIMS has also signed a MOU with Ottawa University, USA for academic collaboration. For the past two years, PGDM students are visiting Ottawa University for four weeks under study abroad programme. Recently students from Ottawa University visited DSIMS as a part of student exchange programme of DSIMS. They stayed in Mumbai for ten days to study Indian Culture. Students of PGDM batch 2018-2020 of Deviprasad Goenka Management College of Media Studies were taken for International Immersion to Singapore-Kuala Lumpur to study the media environment and the global cultural difference. During their visit to Singapore, they visited the MDIS University where they could witness the difference in the education system between the two countries and the role of media.

Ashok M. Saraf, President, RSET

Ghanshyamdas Saraf College organized an Inter Disciplinary International Conference in collaboration with ACCA (Association of Chartered Certified Accountants), a U.K – based global body for professional accountants. A research journal was released on the occasion with research papers contributed by 157 research scholars. Industry – Academia network in the institutions of higher education includes interaction with top corporate managers and guest lectures by visiting professors to facilitate a smooth campus to corporate transition for the students and to enhance their employability quotient.

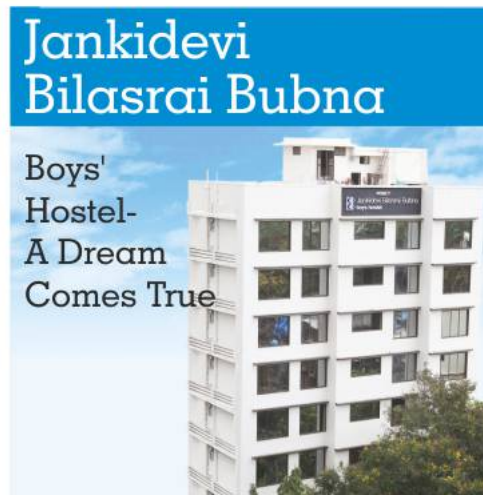

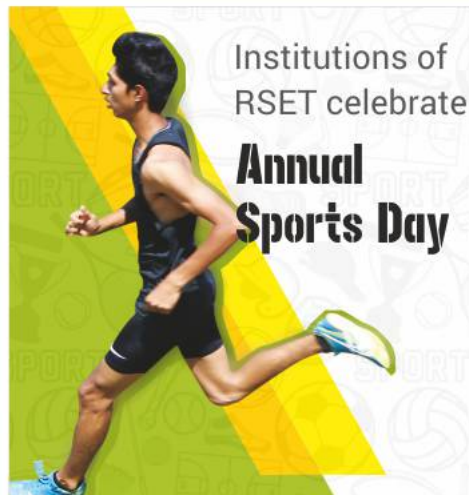

In sports, in the past few months students from schools and colleges of the institutions of RSET have made us proud by winning many awards and accolades at District, State and National level Sports Competitions. Sports activities at Pravinchandra D. Shah Sports Academy are also regularly held and expert coaches are giving proper training to the students. Discipline which is a non-negotiable factor in a student's life is noticeable in our campus and also inculcates the values of time management and punctuality. We are also concerned for the emotional wellbeing of our students. Through Ramdhar Maheshwari Career Counseling Centre in the campus, we are providing various methods of counseling as needed to the students. RMCC also provides personal counseling sessions to assist students with behavioural modifications. Effective Study Skills workshop is organized for senior classes in schools.

I am confident that with all such facilities that we offer, our institutions will continue to shape the future of the young minds of our country and transform their potential into successful careers resulting in national development.

Hon. Secretary's Message

RSET Extends its Global Outreach

Warm Greetings for the New Year!

'Education is a shared commitment between dedicated teachers, motivated students and enthusiastic parents with high expectations' Bob Beuprez

Today, the role of educational institutions is not only to pursue academic excellence but also to motivate and empower the students to be lifelong learners, critical thinkers and productive members of an ever changing global society. Since past seven decades, Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust pledged to provide educational facilities to both girls and boys to empower them to face the world with confidence. This led to the establishment of Hindi & English medium schools, a junior college and a degree college in the past. However, the last one decade witnessed a phenomenal growth in educational opportunities along with massive infrastructural revamp of RSET Campus.

The institutions and organizations run under the aegis of Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust have earned their own niche not only in Mumbai but across the State of Maharashtra. Some of our schools have been interacting with the students of European schools as member of EUMIND (Europe Meets India) - a network of schools that communicate and work together to learn each others' strength. Earlier, students of Mainadevi Bajaj International School completed many projects in collaboration with European schools. This year, Ramniwas Bajaj English High School has become a member of EUMIND and the students are working on the project 'Regions' with a Dutch school, Van-de-Perre, Netherlands, through video-conferencing. In this way, the school children are becoming the youth ambassadors for international co-operation between these two entities on the world stage. In the month of November, a delegation of 35 Japanese Businessman visited MBIS for a day to observe how international curriculum is implemented in the school.

Coming to institutions of higher education, Durgadevi Saraf Institute of Management Studies has signed MOU with Ottawa University, Kansas, USA, and PGDM students of the institute are regularly visiting Ottawa University as a part of their Study Abroad Programme. Every year, PGDM students of Durgadevi Saraf Institute of Management Studies and Deviprasad Goenka Management College of Media Studies are taken for 'International Immersion'. This year students of Ottawa University visited DSIMS for ten days to study Indian Culture. The PGDM Batch of 2018-2020 of DGMC visited Singapore - Kuala Lumpur as a part of International Immersion to study the media environment and the global cultural difference. The Management is always ready to walk extra mile as we believe that students passing out of our institutions should be adequately equipped to face the challenges of the world.

We all know that in the present competitive environment only people who excel in their respective fields will survive and outshine others. Therefore, we at Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust have always given opportunity to our existing faculties to upgrade their academic skills by giving them opportunity to attend refresher courses, orientation programmes, conferences and seminars at regular intervals. Distinguished personalities of National and International fame are invited for seminars and workshops to inspire and enlighten the students and the staff. Ghanshyamdas Saraf College of RSET is now a Research Centre affiliated to Mumbai University in Commerce & Economics & research scholars are already enrolled for research centre under recognized research guides.

It is heartening to inform all that along with academics, all the institutions have made us proud by bagging prizes at Interschool and Intercollegiate cultural festivals. I am extremely happy to state that in the past few months students of the institutions of RSET have made us proud by winning many awards and accolades in sports activities at District, State and National level Sports Competitions. Sports activities at Pravinchandra D. Shah Sports Academy are also regularly held and expert coaches are giving proper training to the students. Even children from primary sections of schools are coming forward as winners in sports. A footballer of U-10 age group from Ramniwas Bajaj English High School has been selected to be the Captain of Mumbai School Sports Association (MSSA) Football Team. Students of Ghanshyamdas Saraf College & Durgadevi Saraf Junior College have won at National & State level competitions in Kabaddi & Martial Arts.

It is a long and continuous journey to attain excellence in educational endeavours that starts from school education and extends to post graduation in commerce, media as well as management studies. I appreciate the efforts of the Editorial team who have done an excellent job in compiling activities of all the institutions for the past three months in a systematic manner.

CEO'S Message

A Wide Array of Activities at RSET

October to December 2018 period was filled with lots and lots of festivities and celebrations for all the staff and students at RSET and its institutions. Students indulged in various sports activities and large number of events at their Institutes. Since Diwali vacations fall in this quarter they enjoy the family vacations and come back rejuvenated.

As usual these three months were packed with Annual Sports Days, NSS, NCC activities, Rotaract Club activities, Field Trips, Excursions, visit to exhibitions, workshops, Teacher Trainings, PTM (parent Teachers Meetings), Rural Immersion, International Immersion, Health Programmes, Etc. Etc.

During the period under review the sports teachers and coaches have left no stone unturned and coached our students in many indoor and outdoor games. We had excellent results at regional and national levels in Kabbadi, Aquatics, and Martial arts where several prizes/awards were won. Widespread participation in games like kho-kho, football, volleyball, table tennis and badminton was very clearly noted by one and all.

Friday, 26 October, witnessed a successful event at PDSA namely "Interschool Sports Event" for Pre Primary students of all schools of the campus and other outside schools also. In all there were 7 schools who took part in this event and they showed very impressive march past followed by theme based fun races.

Our NCC Unit is constituted as only Girls Unit. These young Girl Cadets have such a josh that they participate in all the assigned activities to them whether its training camps, parades or any other school functions like attending leadership programmes etc. These well trained girls make their presence felt in any event because of by their proper turn out, discipline and manners due to the rigorous training imparted to them by the NCC Staff.

At RSET, NSS volunteers too attend the outdoor residential Camps, participate in cleanliness drives and skill development programmes. All these activities they carry out voluntarily. Rotaract Club is another opening where students got first hand experience in practical based First Aid Training in handling a causality and avoid loss of life during emergency. Around 100 participants went for a trek through Rotaract Club at Palghar during December 2018.

Ghanshyamdas Saraf College organized its first International Conference on October 10, 2018. This Inter-Disciplinary Conference was organized in collaboration with ACCA (Association of Chartered Certified Accountants), a U.K – based global body for professional accountants. The details of this event are given in Principal's report in the same magazine.

All the Schools are regularly conducting the PTM meetings which are mutually very helpful for the growth, development and wellbeing of the wards. With the immense support of the parents, the Institutions are carrying out lot of activities. To cite one such activity ---- the Measles-Rubella vaccination campaign was conducted successfully in one of the schools on Monday, 17 December. This was a step towards the public health initiative started by the Government.

Ayaksha Health Services is our partner in conducting health checkup of all the students of four schools. It also organizes workshops which are beneficial to our students and staff. One such workshop on POCSO its implementation, measures to be taken etc. was conducted by the Ayaksha Health Clinic team for the Teaching & Non-Teaching staff on 1st December, 2018.

As a part of Women Development Cell, one of our colleges had organized a program on "Self Defense for Girls" at D.S Hall on 15th October 2018, to mark the birth anniversary of Late APJ Abdul Kalam, former President of India. We were lucky to have Deputy Commissioner of Police Mr Sangram Singh Nishandar who addressed the girls of Std X on sensitive issues like Self Defence, how to deal with an attempt of molestation, cyber security and patiently answered their queries.

Our PG students of Management and Media are getting an immense experience from the Rural and International Immersion experience. DSIMS students went for Rural Immersion to the cities of Anand (Gujrat) and its neighboring villages. Our DGMC students went to Phaltan Taluka, District Satara for Rural Immersion. Interacting with villagers and staying with them must have surely been a memorable experience for these students to understand the real "Bharat".

Finally, above mentioned activities are just the glimpses of our wide reach and coverage in all spheres of life of all our students in their growth and development. We at RSET organize the quarterly meetings of all the Institutes and a detailed report of each Institute is presented in front of all the concerned Trustees and the Committee members to know the progress of each Institute. Dear Reader, we are very happy to inform you that all though all our Institutes are doing extremely well there is no complacency amongst them and each Institute is continuously trying to attain the higher goals keeping in mind the vision and the mission of RSET.

Message From Director of Schools

A Holistic and Balanced Education

In the schools of Rajasthan Sammelan Education Trust, at this time of the year, as one set of students are deeply involved in co-curricular activities such as sports day and Annual Day, another set of students are entering a phase of anxiety. These are the students of Grades 10 in all the four schools and Grade 12 students in the international school. All of them are approaching their board examinations.

Achieving a balance between academics and co-curricular activities is an important aspect of planning a school's holistic curriculum. There are many schools which will aim for excellence in academics, as represented by performance at competitions and board examinations, and there are others who seek to give their students an education that will focus on both.

Living as we do in a competitive environment which demands that students produce good results in their HSC, IGCSE, IB, ISC and other examinations why do some schools feel it necessary to introduce a variety of programmes such as dance, drama, martial arts and many sports, apart from academics?

Some students and many parents worry that participating in extracurricular activities is inversely proportional to academic performance. They feel it takes away from time to be devoted to school work. However, evidence collected over the years suggests otherwise and indicates that extracurricular activities actually improve your grades and your outlook on schooling in general. It increases brain function and helps you concentrate and manage your time better. Studies also indicate that those participating in extra curricular activities have a positive attitude towards school and life in general.

Extracurricular activities allow you to explore a broad range of interests including some areas that you may never have thought of touching upon. It may be the way in which you discover new passions. If a science student joins a school's theatre or music programme she may find a hidden talent. Apart from that, the fact that you are doing something new in your life and are actually good at it increases your self-esteem which then envelops many areas of your life. One good thing about most extra curricular activities is that they are not graded and hence there is no fear of failure. This allows you to enjoy the activities without getting into a competitive mode.

Mired as we are in the world of academics, often our best friends are our books and tuition classes. Extra curricular activities open up a new world for social networking, allow you to discover new things to do and expand your opportunities. It also gives us an opportunity to make significant social contributions in the form of community service.

And there is no limit to the essential life skills that a student learns through her extra-curricular activities. In the first place you learn to prioritise between academics and other activities. Depending upon the activity you choose you will acquire the relevant skills. A dancer, singer or theatre person will not only learn the skill appropriate to the discipline but will also learn how to present himself in the public and this is likely to benefit him in all realms of life. A sports person learns to discipline herself as well as become a leader, a team member and develop the high level of dedicated focus required to do well in the sport. Goal setting, time management and problem solving become essential to succeed in many extra-curricular activities and the spill-over effects are innumerable and touch upon every aspect of your life.

If one were to think in a very self-centered manner, apart from the joy, the skills and social networking benefits that one gets from extra-curricular activities, these also look great on your resumes when you apply for university admissions. If a university is faced with a choice between a student who scored 90 per cent marks in a board examination with no extracurricular activities and another who has scored 85 per cent but also has passed level four of Trinity music exam, they are likely to choose the latter because of what he brings to the table.

Similarly, in later life, as you build your career, it is these activities that will not only count on your resumes but will also make you a more open minded, energetic and efficient human being.

Keeping this in mind the institutes of RSET celebrate a plethora of extra-curricular activities with the management actively promoting and rewarding engagement in sports and cultural activities. Sports Days and Annual Days are only a culmination of this balanced education that is offered at the institutes of RSET.

A Period of Noteworthy Events

The month of January started with many interesting events taking place in our country, in Mumbai as well as in our campus. On Saturday 12th January, 2019 Mumbai joined the nationwide celebrations to mark the 157th birth anniversary of Swami Vivekanand. This day is observed as National Youth Day in his memory. Born as Narendra Nath Dutta in 1863, the young sanyasi was instrumental in spreading the values of Vedanta and Yoga to the world. He passed away at the age of 39. It was felt that the philosophy of Swamiji and the ideals for which he lived and worked could be a great source of inspiration for the Indian Youth. That is why, every year his birthday is observed as National Youth Day. Swamiji's most unique contribution to the creation of new India was to open the minds of Indians to their duty to the downtrodden masses. He also stressed upon inculcating moral values in youth. Hence all academicians, administrators and NGOs must unite together to work for strengthening the character of modern youth and also work for the downtrodden. Then only we can truly contribute in the celebration of the birthday of Swami Vivekanand.

Coming to academics, for the first time Mumbai University invited a Noble laureate Sir Richard John Roberts as the Chief Guest at the Convocation which was held on 11th January, 2019. Maharashtra Governor and Chancellor of Universities, CH. Vidyasagar Rao, Vice-Chancellor, Suhas Pednekar along with Pro-Vice Chancellor Ravindra Kulkarni were also present and awarded medals to the students on this occasion. It was heartening to note that the varsity awarded 52 medals to 40 students out of which 33 were girls. Also, among the eight students who received two or more medals each, six were girls. Noble laureate Sir Richard John Roberts said "I am particularly surprised that the girls are doing so well. I hope one of you, like me, goes on to win the first Noble Prize for their university".

Dr. Sunanda Kar, Editor

Month of January also witnessed beginning of Maha Kumbh Mela in Allahabad (Prayag Raj), one of the important cities in Uttar Pradesh. This religious gathering is held on the sacred spot on the banks of river Ganga and the devotees take a holy dip at the confluence of Ganga, Yamuna and mythical Saraswati river known as Sangam. This year 12 crore devotees are expected to attend Maha Kumbh Mela & 2 crore have already taken a holy dip on Makar Sankranti (first day of Royal Bath) on 15th January, 2019 according to the city planners. According to the expert committee of UNESCO, Kumbh Mela is the most abundant, peaceful religious gathering on earth, where people of different classes participate without any discrimination. The area of Kumbh Mela this time is spread to over 45 km and is an unique example of city planning, sanitation, heavy security, suitable accommodation, health services that is studied by many groups coming from foreign universities. U.P. Government has allocated Rs. 4200 crores for Kumbh Mela making it costliest till date.

Many noteworthy events took place in RSET Campus in the past few months. Ghanshyamdas Saraf College organized its first International Conference in collaboration with ACCA (Association of Chartered Certified Accountants), a U.K. based global body for professional accountants. A research journal was released with research papers contributed by 157 research scholars. The conference saw participants coming from Mumbai, Pune, Goa and other places. Many faculty members of the institutions of Higher Education were awarded Ph.D degree on completion of their thesis. NCC, NSS, DLLE Volunteers & Rotaract Club (Ghanshyamdas Saraf College) conducted important outreach programmes. All the institutions-from schools to colleges, celebrated their Annual Sports Day in a grand manner.

A group of students from Ottawa University, USA visited Durgadevi Saraf Institute of Management Studies as a part of student exchange programme of DSIMS and stayed in Mumbai for ten days to study Indian Culture. Mainadevi Bajaj International School was felicitated with Times Education Icons 2018 Award for its commendable contribution in international curriculum education. Students of schools as well as colleges made us proud by bagging prizes at District, State & National level games, martial arts & swimming. All our institutions are gearing up for Annual Day celebrations to be held very soon.

We are sure that under the guidance of our visionary President and his team of Management members, our institutions will definitely grow further to greater heights.

Jankidevi Bilasrai Bubna

Boys' Hostel- A Dream Comes True

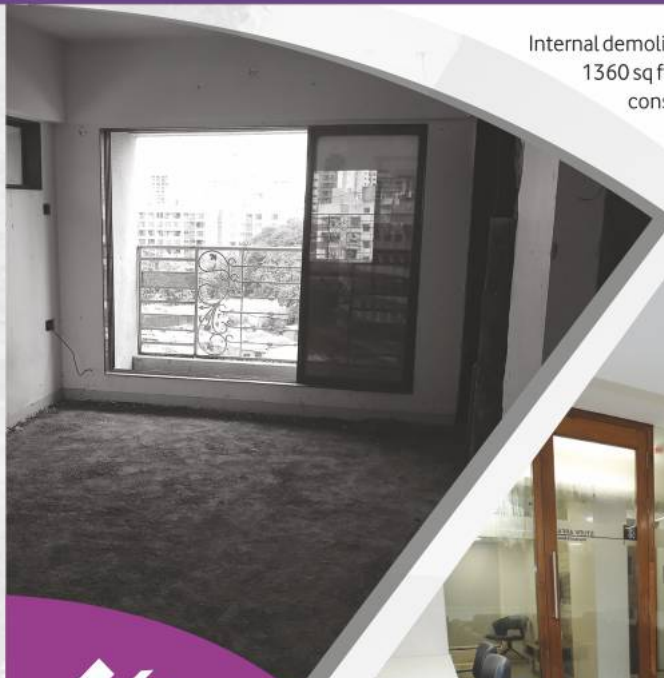

Jankidevi Bilasrai Bubna
boys hostel
A WISE HIVE

Education plays a significant role to design the future of a person. Students pursuing higher and professional education are later able to have a desired career of their choice and lead a successful life. Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust has provided all possible facilities of education to students from Nursery to Post Graduation, Management & Media Studies. At the same time the Management has also extended the educational facilities beyond the boundaries of RSET campus by imparting online education through GOLD Academy. However, the President, Trustees & Managing Committee members had a keen desire to provide residential facilities to men & women to pursue higher & professional education by starting a Boys' Hostel as well as a Women's Hostel where students from other cities can stay & pursue their desired branches of studies.

The dream of starting a women's hostel was transformed into a reality in the year 2012. With handsome donations received from Late Shri Pavan Kumarji Sanwamal, the Trust started Draupadidevi Sanwamal Women's Hostel which is running successfully in the safe & secured surroundings of RSET campus.

The Management now further desired to extend similar facilities to male students also. With magnanimous donations received from Shri Ramprakashji B. Bubna, Main Donor, coupled with efforts of the President, RSET and his team, Jankidevi Bilasrai Bubna Boys' Hostel was constructed near RSET campus with the purpose of providing safe and secured accommodation to Internal demolition was followed by suitable construction. At the ground floor in an area of 1360 sq ft Reception, Lobby, Kitchen, Dining Hall, Rector's Room & RSET Office were constructed. From first to seventh floor, six rooms were constructed covering an area of 1360 sq ft on each floor & in all 42 air conditioned rooms. On each floor study area, recreational area with television as well as washrooms were also provided for the convenience of the students. At the terrace area washing machines have been kept for the use of the students & gym facility has also been provided. Necessary furniture was also purchased as per the requirement of the hostel that included bunk beds, tables, chairs etc.

The building is also equipped with fire detection and fire fighting system. CCTVs are installed for 24 x 7 security. There is Wi-Fi access to the entire building. The building is maintained by professional house-keeping agency. The Hostel provides accommodation for 152 students. Adequate Hostel staff have been appointed for maintaining male students coming from other states and abroad in Mumbai for obtaining higher and professional education.

Indeed it started with a dream followed by a desire to turn the dream into a reality. To start with the Management members started looking for a suitable land or building near RSET campus. Finally a building was found suitable which was purchased in Malad West near the campus off Chincholi Bunder Road for Jankidevi Bilasrai Bubna Boys' Hostel. It was a residential building of ground plus seven floors. There were as many as fourteen flats of one/two bedroom, hall & kitchen in the building with a lobby at the ground floor. Therefore the building needed proper internal renovation to convert it into one unit of the hostel. Shri Manish Mehta, renowned architect was appointed to plan the internal modification while Panora Infrastructure was appointed for project management. Design Bureau was also appointed as MEP Consultant. After completion of all formalities, possession of the building was taken by Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust & the work started on 25th February 2017. Simultaneously, permission was taken from BMC for internal renovation of the building.

proper administration of the Hostel.

Jankidevi Bilasrai Bubna Boys' Hostel was inaugurated on 15th August, 2018 by Shri Kapil Dev, former Captain of Indian Cricket Team at a glittering function attended by eminent personalities, Trustees and Managing Committee members of RSET, Staff and Students. The Hostel has been started from this academic year and is presently occupied by Indian as well as Foreign students from Bangladesh, Afghanistan, Egypt, Madagascar, Tunisia, Tanzania and Ghana. The inmates of the Hostel are provided with all possible facilities that include hygienic breakfast as well as dinner supplied by the in-house caterer of RSET.

We are confident that Jankidevi Bilasrai Bubna Boys' Hostel will be a home away from home for the students staying in the Hostel and the students will be able to complete their education successfully in the safe, secure and comfortable atmosphere of the hostel.

Talent Hunt Competition

Teachers are unique; they have different talents & abilities. They don't have to always follow the footsteps of others, & most important they should always remind themselves that they don't have to do what everyone else is doing & have a responsibility to develop their inherent talents. Giving the teachers a platform to showcase their talent, a Talent Hunt competition was organised by Municipal Corporation Of Greater Mumbai -P/S Ward on 29th November 2018. The event was hosted by RSET'S Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English School at Nathmal Garodia Hall, RSET campus. The entire was judged by Ms. Sangita Sawant, a Bharatnatyam artiste and Ms. Tarannum Ahmed, Principal of Elias Sarwat English High School and Junior college. The event started with welcoming the Heads and Committee members of P/S ward. To invoke God's presence and seek blessings, the lamp was lighted by all the judges and committee members with the motto of spreading light and happiness.

Light is a symbol of brightness & prosperity, as sunlight expels the darkness of night, similarly blessings bring happiness & prosperity in our life. All the dignitaries were invited to light the lamp of knowledge & wisdom to make the day a blessed one.

The Headmistress of Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English School Mrs. Indrani Balan welcomed both the judges for the event with a token of love. The event began with welcoming the heads & committee members of P/S Ward level. The Principal of Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English

“Your talent
is God's gift to you, what you do with it is your Gift
back to God”

P/S Ward Committee Members

School, Mrs. Mini Nayar extended a warm welcome to all the dignitaries with the token of love. Mrs. Seema Shaikh convener of Municipal Corporation of Greater Mumbai Educational Department of P/S Ward motivated the teachers with her words of encouragement.

Dance is meditation in movement, a walk into silence where every movement becomes prayer. To showcase this, the students of Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English School – Primary section performed a prayer dance. Thus the stage and mood was set in for the day. Teachers have an ocean of hidden talent amongst them. To showcase this, many teachers from different schools of P/S ward participated and exhibited their talents in singing, dancing, mono acting, music, etc. As an art form, dance utilizes many of the elements that can be found in other arts. It also helps in exploring the different states of mind such as pleasure & pain, different attitude, jealousy, happiness, sorrow that involves a strong feeling which can be described as a passion.

Classical dance which is influenced by natyashastra with many unique & beautiful dance forms by graceful body movements was performed by Pragnya Bodhini High School, MTS Khalsa High School & Bangur Nagar Vidya Bhawan. Another dance form which was performed in the competition was Lavni & Rajasthani Folk Dance. Lavni is a combination of traditional song & dance which is particularly performed to the beats of Dholki, a percussion instrument. It is noted for its powerful rhythm & has contributed substantially to the development of Marathi Folk. This art of dance was performed by Goregaon English High School. Last but not the least, a traditional folk dance of Rajasthan which was introduced by Bhil Tribe & was adopted by the royal communities of Rajasthan. It is performed to worship Goddess Saraswati by women on special occasions. The beauty of this folk dance is in the graceful movements of swaying hands, beating palms & spinning around. This art form was performed by the teacher of Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English School Ms. Ritu Sharma, for which she bagged the 2nd prize in the competition. "It is not easy to determine the nature of music or why anyone should have knowledge of it".

Mrs. Indrani Balan Headmistress welcoming the judge for the event Ms. Sangita Sawant

The next criteria of the competition was Singing. Singing is an art of combining vocal or instrumental sounds for the beauty of form or emotional expression, in accordance to certain standard of rhythm, melody & harmony. Singing is an art that permeates every human society. The prevalence of music is nothing new & its human importance has often been acknowledged what seems curious is that, despite the universality of art, no one until recent times has argued for its necessity. It was performed by the teachers of Jawahar Vidyalaya High School, Vivek Vidyalaya, Mount Mary high School, Bulbuls English School, Infant Jesus School & Bangur Nagar Vidya Bhawan.

The last criteria for the Competition were Mono- acting. Mono-act is a theatrical or operatic piece played by a single actor or singer, usually portraying one character. It is a very interesting art form which involves both acting as well as intelligence. The art has been perfected by very few people. Mono-acting is also termed as Mono-drama. Mono-acting was performed by various teachers of various schools such as Pragnya Bodhini High School, Vivek Vidyalaya, Mount Mary High School, Infant Jesus School & Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English School. Our participant Ms. Karthika Nadar utilized a range of expressions & emotions while exhibiting her act, that how a mentally challenged girl was sexually abused by her own family member. Through her heart throbbing performance, she depicted the sensitive topic and had the audience spellbound.

Mrs. Mini Nayar, Principal welcoming the judge for the event Ms Taranum Ahmed

Being a judge, declaring the result for any competition is a difficult task, as they need to announce the results in a proper way to appreciate & motivate the position holders. And, the judges for the competition declared the results in a positive manner where the non-prize winners were also appreciated for their great efforts.

The prize winners of the competition were- Ms. Reshma Chavan of Bangur Nagar Vidya Bhawan who bagged the 1st prize, Mrs. Ritu Sharma of Kudilal Govindram Seksaria English School won the 2nd Prize & the 3rd Prize was bagged by Ms. Yuvlin Nadar of Jawahar Vidyalaya.

No event can come to an end without a proper Vote of Thanks. It was a great honor & privilege to propose a vote of thank by Ms. Uma Madam the committee member of P/S Ward level thanking the esteemed guests, the teachers, support staff for their efforts in making the function a great success. Principal, Mini Nayar also expressed her thanks and appreciated the participants and the winners. She also thanked the P/S ward for organizing such a competition which gave such a platform to the teachers. The event concluded with the National Anthem followed by the snacks for all.

"Art can permeate the very deepest art of us where no words exist".

English LANGUAGE

Fest at

international school

It's amusing that both words sound the same ... I need to concentrate....

Without language, one cannot talk to people and understand them; one cannot share their hopes and aspirations, grasp their history, appreciate their poetry or savour their songs-Nelson Mandela English is often referred to as a "world language", because it is widely spoken.

MBIS celebrated its first English Language Fest, on 17th October 2018 at Durga Devi Saraf Hall. It was celebrated by the Primary section students.

We celebrated the English language, not with any sense of its superiority to other languages spoken in our community but only to recognize that English is the one language that we all have in common. From its inception, it has taken on grammar, tones, and words from every language it has come into contact with. There are those who would argue that English is no longer a language of its own, but an amalgam of every language it has come into contact with.

The Language Fest at MBIS sought to entertain, inform and increase awareness of the English language through language games activities to support the promotion of the language; and what better way than having each and every student from grades 1 to 4 play the language games with his or her parent. Each table had a Grade 5 student as a facilitator of that particular game. To begin with, when the music was played, the parent with the child went around the table and chose the closest table when the music stopped. They were given 7 minutes to play the game at the end of which the

The nicest thing about doing a crossword puzzle is--- you know there is a solution music was played once again and the parent with the child had to stop playing the game and gather on to the stage.

Here the music teacher played different tunes of old nursery rhymes or well-known English songs which the parents had to identify and then sing along. This gave the Grade 5 students time to keep the table ready for the next parent to play the game.

Keeping calm and making anagrams

The conversations with different sets of parents made us conclude that English has become so powerful, that it is now the Lingua Franca of the entire world, bringing together everyone for trade and communication. No other language comes close to matching that, and it is that, that makes English global. It is the language of the internet. It is language of air-traffic control, of international travel, and of international business. It is the language of science.

Creativity is intelligence having fun

There were different games based on Anagram, Crossword based on antonyms, Homophones, Singular and plural, degrees of Adjectives, Countable and uncountable Nouns, Jumbled sentences, and Common and proper nouns of which two of them were floor games. The parents had a gala time playing the games with their child and thoroughly enjoyed the Language Day. Many of them said that it was a learning experience for them and that they would cherish this day for ever. They agreed that English Language stands as one of the most complicated languages to learn as a second language, as it contains words like their, there, and they're. Or when the plural of goose is geese, but the plural of moose is... moose.

Planting adjectives and nouns on to the trees

Like any other language, the English language continues to evolve and many more words, influenced by other languages would be added to the English dictionary. It is said that what remains constant in a language is change.

Language Day at MBIS all came down to this: Twenty-six letters were combined correctly to create a magical day.

Learning Tables the fun way

Aim of the Project: To make learning of tables easy for students of Grade V to VIII.

Materials used: Chart papers, sketch pens.

Procedure:

Ex. 1: To make it easy to learn the table of 12 the following method was explained using a chart.

Numbers 1 to 10 & Even numbers from 2 to 20 were written in column 1 &

2 respectively. The numbers up to 4 directly result in the table of 12 & later on from number 5 we add the number in the tens place in the second column to the corresponding number in the first column. The total of the two resulted in the table of 12.

Ex. 2: In the same way they can make a table of 19 by writing odd numbers from 1 to 20 in column 1 and then numbers 9 to 0 in column 2. When we read the numbers in both column we easily get the table of 19.

	2	4	24
	3	6	36
	4	8	48
	5	10	60
	6	12	72
	7	14	84
	8	16	96
	9	18	108
	10	20	120

	3	8	38
	5	7	57
	7	6	76
	9	5	95
	11	4	114
	13	3	133
	15	2	152
	17	1	171
	19	0	190

Observation: Being very simple and interesting method children can make tables from 1 to 100 easily and this method can be used from grade 1 to grade 10. The traditional method of mugging up table does not always work with all the students and that's where these tricks come to their rescue.

Mothers' Day Out

With each passing year, RBHS continues its endeavour to strive towards pioneering in rediscovering techniques to make learning fun for the little ones and bringing in an element of novelty and freshness.

This year we made an attempt in that direction in yet another unique way. We organized a Mothers' Day Out event. This was a day when the mothers accompanied the children of the Pre-Primary section on a picnic. We attempted to take the mothers back to their school days by asking them to come prepared to spend a day with their children; following the schedule the children do at school. The idea was to make it a fun day and hence, we organized the activities outdoors. Not only that, the mothers were twinning with their children. The creative and excited mothers twinned with their children in rather small detail. Some of them came with as many as six elements matching! There was a lot of enthusiasm in participating in this event.

The mothers and children were taken by bus to Nandanvan, a beautiful location which was generously let out by our trustee, Mr. Vinodkumar Poddar. The lush lawns and other areas of the venue were set up in a way that would give the participants a Shantiniketan experience. The classrooms were in the natural environs of the beautiful gardens; under the trees.

Once there, the mothers too were treated as Pre-Primary children and the day started with the routine assembly and prayer. Following that everyone was divided into groups and a time table was handed over to each one. There were various activities organized and all were expected to participate according to the time table. A drum beat was sounded at regular intervals to denote the end of the session and marking the beginning of a new session.

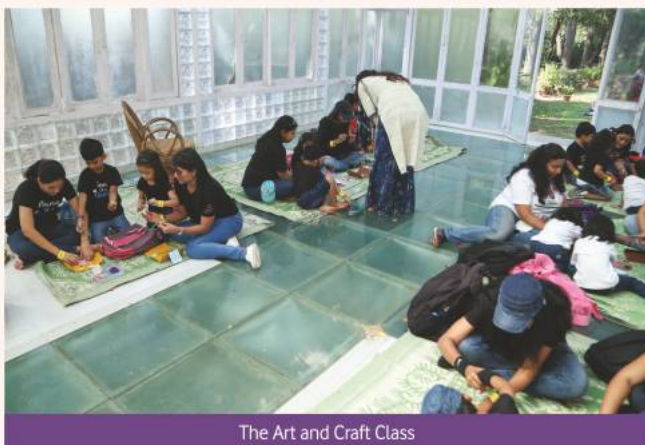

Mothers moved from one "Classroom" to another in an orderly fashion, thoroughly enjoying every moment of it. There were sessions for language development, art and craft, physical education and fun games. The language development class was one that helped mothers to understand how to go about enriching their children's language skills and participating in activities along with the children gave them an insight to fun activities that could be indulged in, with the little ones in their spare time. The art and craft class enabled the mother-child to create an item together such that the child could present it to his/her mother. The games session got everyone cheering and excited. Surprisingly, the physical education class was one that the mothers participated in most enthusiastically.

The Language Development Class

Care was taken to plan all the activities in such a way that mother and child were involved jointly. This ensured that there was teamwork between mother and child. The motive behind this was obvious- bonding between mother and child.

What seemed challenging to start with, turned out to be an exciting and fun ride for the teachers too! They ended up treating the mothers as children; giving them stars for attempting an activity correctly and asking them to form straight lines when in transition. And, how the mothers loved it!

After a schedule of the activities, the "children" (as they were referred to!)

went to the designated canteens for their snack break. These canteens were actually platforms under the trees which were earmarked class-wise. Everyone was provided with a little snack which they had along with their friends, just as they would have when on a picnic.

Post snack time, the group was moved to the fun zone. This segment was organized to give the mothers time with their children to freely explore the place and once again-bond. This zone was the Music and Movement Area where we had music playing while the children and their mothers either danced or moved around socializing with their peers. A photographer was present who ensured that each child was clicked with his/her mother. Alongside, the judges were mingling with the participants to decide which pair was worthy of the prize for twinning. Yes! There were prizes for the best twinning pairs too.

The day ended with the children being transported back to school in the bus, with memories of a day well spent in the company of their children as they do.

A lot of feedback poured in and the one thing that most mothers valued was the opportunity to bond with their children and teachers. Many mothers wrote to us to thank us and requesting to organize such events every year. They said we were successful in creating beautiful memories which they would cherish for a long time.

And, that was our reward...we couldn't ask for more. We had achieved what we had set out to!

Ramniwas Bajaj English High School

The Pre-Primary, Primary & Secondary sections of Ramniwas Bajaj English High School celebrates Annual Sports Day with great enthusiasm.

Pre-Primary Annual Sports Meet

The Pre-Primary Annual Sports Meet was held on Friday, 14 December 2018 at the PDSA ground in the RSET Campus.

The Chief Guest on the occasion was Ms. Sayali Jadhav, Captain of Indian Women's Kabbadi Team. Trustee, Ms. Nishita Goenka and Director of Schools, Mr. Nitin Padte were present on the field along with Principals and Heads of other schools of the campus.

The participants on this day were children between the ages of 3 to 6 years and thus, in order to make the event interesting and challenging, a different theme is decided upon every year. The theme this year was DisneyWorld.

All the presentations, right from the displays to the races were based on this theme. Innovative props were prepared by the staff to ensure that the field was transformed into a visual treat for the onlookers. At the entrance to the PDSA complex a huge castle was created that resembled Disney Land. Besides that, images of cartoon characters were displayed on the net surrounding the ground on all four sides to add to the ambience. The décor lent an air of excitement and enthusiasm among the parents who were present to witness the 'show'.

Even though this was an event for the Pre-Primary children, all the preliminaries like the march past, oath taking and lighting of the torch were performed well by the little children.

The children of the Sr. Kg. classes put up brilliant displays to showcase various skills like somersaults, cartwheels and splits among others. The races were designed such that they aimed at honing not only various gross and fine motor skills but even cognitive skills of the little ones. Care was taken to bear in mind to maintain the level of competency according to the age of the children.

Moreover, since we had followed a theme, we had identified different stories from the world of Disney. Hence, each race had a story to tell; be it Rapunzel or Moana or Snow White's Seven Dwarfs, to name a few. We firmly believe that inculcating a spirit of sportsmanship at a young age is vital and hence it was engrained in the children that it was a game and participation is important, to give a 100% even more; not winning or losing.

Challenging tasks performed by the babies

Innovative races to hone physical skills

As each race was run, the excitement in the parents' enclosure started rising. They were truly enthralled by the entire event; calling it a 'show' rather than a Sports Meet. In the feedback they gave us, they told us that they hadn't ever seen anything like this before. That made our day!!

Annual Sports Meet of Primary & Secondary sections

'success Is Where Preparation And Opportunity Meet'

The preparation for the Annual Sports Meet of Primary & Secondary sections started with the Heats being conducted on 6th December 2018 at GSC and also for a rehearsal of the various displays and athletic track events for students to qualify for the final day.

With great enthusiasm, energy and sportsmanship spirit, the Annual Sports Meet for 2018 – 19 was held on 21 December 2018 at Goregaon Sports Club [GSC] under the guidance of the Principal and the Sports Committee. The Director of Schools, Mr. Nitin Padte along with Principals and Heads of other schools of the campus were present on the field.

There was also an array of displays. The displays for Music, Yoga, Martial Arts were common to the Primary and the Secondary sections. The students sang to the tune of 'Believe in Yourself' in the Primary and 'The Hall of Fame' in the Secondary. The Yoga display was all about crossing obstacles and achieving the best. This was beautifully done with lilting music. The Invincible Spirit of Martial Arts was very well displayed.

Besides these, the Secondary gave upbeat tunes to the band display. They also ignited the spark of Lezim through a wonderful display. In the Primary, Peacock drill and Aerobics was a change for the good. The students danced their way to good health with Aerobics. The students skillfully exhibited integrity with the Peacock drill. This was appreciated by all.

The Band Display, March Past and the Torch Bearers' Run were the highlights of the day. It was a proud moment to see all the Sports Achievers from June – November 2018 participating in the Torch Run Ceremony. All the displays enhanced the spirit of team work and humility amongst the students.

The Chief Guest for the Secondary event was Ms. Kartiki Patel, Captain of the Indian Wheelchair Women's Basketball team.

The Chief Guest for the Primary event was Ms. Akshada Wavekar, a Senior National Medallist in Artistic Gymnastics. It was not only an honour but also a privilege to have eminent Sports Personalities grace the Annual Sports Meet of the Primary as well as the Secondary. The occasion was also special as RBHS yet again worked to make a difference. To avoid unintentional littering into the ocean and evade a threat to the environment, the school did not release balloons and flex this year. Moreover, birds, turtles and other animals commonly mistake balloons for food, which can harm or even kill them.

Instead, the school unveiled the theme board to mark the opening of the Annual Sports Meet. The theme was 'Dream, Believe, Achieve'. The fun races in the Primary section revolved around this theme. Parents actively participated in the Parent Races. The Teachers' race and the Support Staff races were also fun filled.

Overall it was a seamless event, well coordinated and appreciated by parents, and it gave us immense satisfaction to see our dreams being achieved through strong beliefs and pure teamwork.

Is online learning becoming more popular? This is the burning question? There are in fact many factors that determine its popularity.... It is predicted that by 2019 at least 50% of all classes will be delivered online!, and online learning has been slowly increasing over the past 5 years.

According to the National Student Clearing house Research Centre, between 2012 and 2013 the number of institutions launching e-learning platforms increased by 23%. This increase in supply clearly shows that there is an increase in demand for online learning.

At the segmentation of learners, we would find that 34% of learners who study online are under the age of 25 yrs that is a 9% increase from 2012! Clearly the majority of these learners are choosing to study the degree courses online vs. traditional forms of learning. With the enrollment rate for students who choose to study online growing by roughly 1% per year, it is clear that as we move forward a great majority of our youth will choose to study online or partially online as opposed to traditional learning.

The efforts can be seen put by our coaches and students by achieving many rewards this year.

The support which these athletes get from the management is amazing and the management is always there to give any kind of support to the players.

We start developing players at a very young and tender age so that they excel and match the international standards.

SELF-DEVELOPMENT FOR ENHANCING MANAGERIAL EFFECTIVENESS

Dean - Academics and Research, DSIMS

Growth and development have always been the key to the success whether it is an individual, or an organisation or a nation. It is a continuous process but the speed differs from the individual to individual, organisation to organisation and nation to nation. The growth and development can be measured by the positive change taken place during a period of time from the previous stage. Due to highly competitive business environment, innovation of new technologies and challenges, the speed of development requires impetus for development and growth. Organisations can replicate each and every aspect of business input like capital, technology, infrastructure, systems and processes but not the people because every individual is different with different aptitude, abilities, personality traits, mental, emotional and temperamental frameworks, etc. Thus, the key to the competitive success for any business entity is its managerial workforce which requires continuous development to meet the business challenges. To grow at a desired speed, the managers are required to develop themselves on a continuous basis by learning new knowledge and skills both technical and behavioural.

Self-development focuses on self-driven development initiatives. Before dwelling on the self-development process and approaches it is better to understand the concept of self. It has two components viz. Patent Self and Inner Self. The patent self is the characteristics of a person related to his/her identifying and physical features. The inner self refers to the entire aspects of one's personality and behavioural characteristics which also include the knowledge and skills acquired by him from time to time consciously, sub-consciously and even unconsciously with formal and informal efforts. It also includes his strengths, weaknesses, competencies, values, perceptions and attitudes. As far as the patent self is concerned, one has a limited scope to change and develop it through grooming. One can develop a pleasing personality by developing a good body shape with exercise, decent haircuts, dressing sense etc. but cannot alter his/ her height, the colour of skin or physical features. Thus, the main focus should be on development of inner self which has a tremendous and unrestricted scope for development. Therefore, the focus of self-development in this article is confined to development of inner self as defined above.

FACTORS SUPPORTING SELF-DEVELOPMENT

Each individual who strives for his development has to initiate and drive his/her own development process. A popular saying applies here "you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink." Seeking self-improvement is an individual driven ongoing process aiming at Improving Knowledge base, Developing Skills and Developing right Behaviour & Attitude. It is the process of discovering and utilizing the tremendous potential within the individual to develop competencies and matured personality.

Robert Katz identified three managerial skills essential for successful managers viz. technical, human-relations and conceptual skills. Technical skill involves processes or technical knowledge and proficiency, human-relations skill involves the ability to interact effectively with people and conceptual skill involves the conceptualization of ideas and issues, dealing with abstractions and viewing the solutions keeping in view the organisation as a whole. Thus, technical skill deals with processes, human skill concerns people, and conceptual skill has to do with ideas. At a junior level, the managers are required to use more of the technical skills and gradually they have to use more and more conceptual skills when they grow in their profession. The technical skills focus on 'Know How' whereas the conceptual skills focus more on 'Know Why'. The human-relations skills are required at all levels of managerial functions uniformly wherever one has to deal with people and work in an interdependent work environment. As emphasised earlier, the primary responsibility of self-development lies with the managers themselves. If they do not take timely steps for their development they will lose their relevance and can become obsolete in a highly competitive and dynamic business environment where learning, relearning and unlearning should take on an ongoing basis. The managers therefore should consider the following steps for their self-development:

(i) Define the goals for self-development

Defining the goals is the first step in self-development initiative. One should be clear what he should achieve. The goals depend upon individual mission i.e. what he wants to be and to do. Sense of mission gives the basic direction from which long-term and short-term goals should be set. Goals should keep harmony amongst his different roles. The manager has responsibility towards his organisation, his family and the society at large. All have justified demands from him and his time. He should therefore plan his development initiatives so that he does justice to all his expected roles.

(ii) Determination and self-development

Determination and the strong will power are the key drivers of self-development. Nothing can resist a determined will. Self-developer displays strong determination to overcome obstacles. He builds achievements on his strength and safeguards the same by minimising the adverse effects of his limitations. It becomes essential to correctly assess the strength, weakness, opportunities and threats (SWOT analysis). The self-analysis through introspection is the key for realistic self-assessment which serves as the crucial factor to realistically decide the goals.

(iii) Self-development through co-operation

Everyone can learn something from others. Self-developer believes in getting along to go ahead. He tries to capitalize on mutual synergy and creates an environment for helping and sharing each other's strengths. He believes that there is plenty for everybody; one's success is not to be achieved at the cost of others. Relationships are nurtured in mutual trust, honesty, empathy and respect. He avoids the negative feelings caused by fear, anger, or jealousy which impede self-development.

(iv) Seeking and encouraging feedback

Getting an honest feedback helps in learning more about oneself. Positive feedback reinforces one's convictions and negative feedback makes one aware of his areas of improvement. Objective feedback prevents distortion of self-image. One should take the feedback sincerely and sportingly. If someone tries to defend against the feedback or unwilling to accept a genuine feedback, even the well-wishers will stop giving feedback in future. Feedback provides the inputs for self-analysis and introspection.

(v) Desire to excel & achievement motivation for self-development

Desire to excel in whatever one does is the hallmark of self-development. Doing common thing uncommonly brings success. Excellence becomes a matter of habit, it can be achieved through knowledge and skills; knowing 'what to do' and 'how to do'. It is easier to do a job when well equipped to do it. Creative spirit of self-developer is manifest in his willingness to learn. He has the open, questioning mind and is ready to try new and innovative ways of doing things.

(vi) Positive attitude and self-development

The art of positive thinking lies in filling up mind with positive ideas of what one wants to achieve. Those who seem to be lucky are those who are optimistic and expect to win. "You can if you think you can". Managers with positive attitude are always learning from failures and do not give up easily.

(vii) Self-confidence and self-development

It is belief in oneself that enables a manager to draw from the reserves of tremendous strength within him. Lack of faith in oneself is a hindrance in self-growth. The escapist takes shelter behind excuses. The only way to get anywhere to start from where one is and to use what he has. Self-confidence and a relaxed mind bring out the best. Most of the extraordinary achievers succeed in their mission because of their tremendous self-confidence, determination and positive attitude. Lack of self-confidence creates fear of failure and one does not try his full potential to achieve the goals.

APPROACHES TO SELF-DEVELOPMENT

Based on the objectives and the factors for self-development discussed above, the following approaches for self-development can be adopted:

Goal oriented approach: Any approach for development requires goal setting as a first step. The goals should be SMART i.e. Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant and Time-Bound. Goals provide the direction, efforts required, corrective actions needed and sense of achievement. Let us draw the analogy between national economic development and individual development. In economic development we plan, review and measure the achievement of 3 sectors viz. Agriculture (primary), Industry (secondary) and Services (tertiary) for a period of one year which can be reviewed and measured against the pre-set goals/targets. For an individual, self-development goals can be planned, reviewed and measured for development of 3 components viz. Knowledge, Skills and Attitude/ Behaviour. All the 3 are required in a significant proportion. One has to constantly develop his knowledge base about new concepts, developments and changes. The skill development is required to handle situations requiring practical solutions and applications. The right attitude/behaviour is required to handle inter-personal issues effectively. The positive attitude brings the positivity and problem-solving approach in the behaviour. The knowledge enhances the confidence, the skills improve the competence whereas the right behaviour and attitude inculcate the commitment.

Conscious-Competence approach of Noel Burch: Noel Burch developed Conscious Competence Ladder Approach in 1970 which encompass four stages of competence viz. Unconscious incompetence, Conscious incompetence, Conscious competence and Unconscious competence. This approach is also referred as "Conscious Competence Matrix," "Learning Matrix," and the "Four Stages of Learning." The model highlights two factors that affect our thinking as we learn a new skill: consciousness (awareness) and skill level (competence). According to this model, we move through the following levels as we build competence in a new skill:

Under Unconscious incompetence stage (we do not know what we do not know), the individual does not understand or know how to do something and does not necessarily recognize the deficit. At this level, he is blissfully ignorant: he has a complete lack of knowledge and skills in a specific area, and he is unaware of this. He does not know that he does not have a particular skill, or that he needs to learn it. He may deny the usefulness of the skill. It may also arise when someone is doing something wrong and does not know that he is doing it wrong. The individual must recognize his own incompetence, and the value of the new skill, before moving on to the next stage. The length of time an individual spends in this stage depends on the strength of the stimulus to learn. At this stage the realisation of importance of the skill and the awareness about incompetence should start.

The next stage of learning is the Conscious incompetence (we know what we do not know). Under this stage though the individual does not understand or know how to do something, he recognises the deficit, as well as the value of a new skill. He knows that he does not have this skill when he is doing something wrong but he knows that he is doing it wrongly. The making of mistakes can be integral to the learning process at this stage. By this stage, the individual discovers that he needs to learn new skills. He realizes that others are much more competent than he is, and that they can easily do things that he is struggling with. Because of that it becomes demoralizing and sometimes the confidence comes down. It is therefore important to remain positive and take it as a challenge to learn at a high speed.

At the Conscious competence stage (we know what we know) the individual understands or knows how to do something. He knows that he has the required skill. When he is doing something right he has to consciously focus on doing it the right way. Thus, demonstrating the skill or knowledge requires concentration. The task is broken down into steps, and there is heavy conscious involvement in executing the new skill. At this level, one knows that he has acquired the skills and knowledge he needs. He is required to put his learning into practice regularly to gain more confidence to use new skills. He still needs to concentrate when he performs the activities more frequently and with practice and experience, these activities become increasingly automatic.

The Unconscious competence stage (we do not know what we know) is the final stage of learning. Under this stage the individual has so much practice with the skill that it has become part of his routine activity which he can perform easily at an unconscious or sub-conscious level. He therefore does not know that he has the skill. When he is doing something right and he does not even to think about it. As a result, the skill can be performed while executing other tasks also. The individual may be able to teach it to others without making any extra efforts. At this level, one is able to use the skills effortlessly, and can perform tasks without conscious effort. A good way to do this is to teach these new skills to others in the organization. This will keep information fresh in mind, deepen the understanding of the material, and give a rewarding way to pass this knowledge to others. One may go backwards down the ladder if he does not use the skill regularly.

To explain this conscious competence approach, let us take a practical example of car driving as a skill to explain the 4 stages of learning. A person may not know about the skills required in driving a car and about his own competency to drive. He may feel that many people drive the car so he will also be able to do it with some efforts, he is at unconscious incompetency level. When he actually tries to drive the car, he realises that it is not that easy and he becomes aware about his incompetency, he is at conscious incompetency level. When he follows the instructions of the instructor and is able to drive the car to some comfortable level he reaches to the stage of conscious competency level as he recalls the steps and instructions given by the instructor and his entire operations requires conscious behaviour. If someone does not further drive the car and leave the learning at this stage, there is a great chance that he may not be able to drive it after a gap and goes back to the previous stage of conscious incompetency. We have seen many persons learn the driving, obtain the driving license but not able to drive because of this phenomenon. When a person gets enough practice and experience of driving the car, he is able to drive it without conscious efforts, he reaches the ultimate stage of unconscious competence. Similar stages are faced by the managers when they learn some new skills. Unless they use them regularly it may be possible that they may not be able to use them at comfort level i.e. unconscious competence level. Thus, the Four Stages of the model for learning suggests that individuals are initially unaware of how little they know, or unconscious of their incompetence. As they recognize their incompetence, they consciously acquire a skill, then consciously use it. Eventually, the skill can be utilized without it being consciously thought through: the individual is said to have then acquired unconscious competence and becomes part of his routine function.

ORGANISATION'S ROLE TO FACILITATE SELF-DEVELOPMENT

Both, the organisations and managers are the beneficiary of development. Organisations are keen to create human capital in the form of strategic work force whereas the managers are interested in developing more and more competencies to grow faster and retain their relevance with the developments taking place all around. The Organisations should therefore provide opportunity to facilitate the growth of individual managers by providing a conducive learning and rewarding environment. The progressive organisations provide all out support to the managers for their development and invest in their development through formal and informal sources. At formal level, the organisations provide time to time training on new skills to bridge the gaps between competencies required and possessed. They also draw a comprehensive career plan for the managers to provide exposure to various organizational activities for the overall growth and development of managers to occupy higher positions.

At informal level the organisation should facilitate the growth of managers through following means:

- (i) The organisation should provide effective Leadership and Mentoring to the managers by their seniors. The role of the seniors is to create conditions for facilitating learning process. They should encourage the managers to try new ways of doing the things and not to be averse of taking risks.
- (ii) The seniors can also help the managers to identify and utilize their hidden potentials. Each individual has tremendous potential but is unable to identify the same. The seniors can always keep a watch on the managers to identify any extraordinary talent and harness the same for achieving higher performance.

(iii) The success of a manager depends on his competencies, his motivation and the opportunities provided to use his competencies. Placing right person for the right job where the manager can use his competencies to enhance his productivity is beneficial to both i.e. organization and the manager. The organization will gain due to better quality and higher productivity whereas the manager will have satisfaction of using his competencies in a more productive way. The organizations should maintain an inventory of the competencies possessed by the managers so that right person is utilized for the right job at a right time. The use of information technology for developing intelligent Human Resource Information System (HRIS) can be useful for such matching.

(iv) The managers should have the big picture of the organisational activities and should be able to link his role with the overall objectives and goals of the organisation. The organisation should therefore share and emphasize its vision and also provide goal and role clarity so that his efforts are channelized towards organizational goals and strategy.

(v) Most of the organisations conduct employee appraisal once a year and hardly have time to discuss the organisational expectations. They also fail to provide timely feedback to the managers about their performance. It is therefore necessary to provide a timely and constructive feedback for improving the performance.

(vi) Another significant organizational factor causing low performance and low motivation for learning and development of the managers is the lack of conducive organizational culture which is mainly caused by inter-personal conflicts, lack of inter-personal cooperation, inter-personal distrust, grape wine and rumors, etc. The organisations should be sensitive to these developments and strive to create a healthy culture for the managerial development and growth.

To conclude, it has become absolutely essential that the managers should upgrade their competencies on a continuous basis to meet the new challenges because of fast obsolescence of knowledge and skills driven by innovations and technological disruptions. One should not live in his past glory and become complacent; past achievements do not ensure future success because of radical changes in business models. The managers should drive their development initiatives to remain updated and relevant in a fast-changing business environment though the organizations should support the self-development process for the mutual benefits. There is always a war for acquiring talent by the corporates and those who timely acquire right skills are always in great demand. Thus, to be a successful manager, one does not have a choice but to develop and grow through his own initiatives to achieve managerial excellence. It makes a swim or sink situation for the manager to survive and grow in a highly volatile and uncertain business environment.

Post-graduation is an exciting time. It is both - an ending and a beginning; it is warm memories of the past and big dreams for the future.

DSIMS was the key to those locks of my life which I thought would never open. DSIMS gave me a platform to rise and fight back. Right from the best faculties to the excellent infrastructure and a diverse peer group, DSIMS is everything you need as a prerequisite to enter the corporate world.

Right from the first interaction with Sharmila Ma'am and expressing the desire of being the part of the growth story of DSIMS to winning the best speaker award, from sitting and making notes in all the lectures to helping all my friends with the same during exam time, from expressing the desire of being the best at everything at everything – Course, extra-curricular activities and grabbing the best job to Sarita Ma'am and achieving the same, from being a part of the annual financial conclave – Financia to being the event head for the same, literally EVERYTHING that happened in the institution was memorable.

The course structure of MMS is designed in such an amazing manner that it gives us a holistic view of how the eco-system of a corporate set-up works, the pre-formed project groups consisting of students across domains gives that feel of how working with people from different educational backgrounds can be. The open door policy between the faculty and the students is another very important facility that DSIMS provides. Right from education to skill development to personality building, DSIMS gives it all. Looking forward to continue my association with DSIMS forever.

Most Memorable Event in the Institution

DSIMS has changed me inside out and has nurtured me well to get into and survive in highly competitive corporate world. There have been a lot of memories in the past 2 years as we had a lot of events and activities anchored by the students in the guidance of the faculty members and the management. However, the most memorable event in the institution was Financia where I have contributed by bringing in sponsorship for the event and guiding the juniors to bring in more funds and managing them. Being a sponsorship head of the event helped me gain confidence to communicate with people, improving my negotiation skills and the art of killing the competition. This event changed the way I used to think and strategize things. Special thanks to Dr Sarita Vichore for being my mentor for the entire 2 years journey and for giving me opportunities to showcase myself and enhance my capabilities.

DSIMS helped me to get into my dream company Crisil Ltd which is one of the best gift the institute could ever give me. Along with Financia I also headed Entrepreneurship Cell (Soch) wherein we motivated the students to start their own venture. Looking back at the 2 years journey we were groomed right from the start with activities such as debate competition, an opportunity to become brand ambassador of institute and representing the institute in various events and meetings. The trust of faculties and management had boosted a lot of confidence for which we can't thank them enough.

I see DSIMS as a platform where students are allowed to think and question which not the culture of many is and as the institute claims I can rightly say I with the help of institute and the faculty members have created a leader in myself which stands out in this competitive world and ready to beat the market. Thank you for giving me an opportunity to share my life changing memories.

Thank you Donors

Our family of donors include illustrious business families, individuals, corporate partners, foundations and all those people who are committed to our philosophy of providing "Quality Education for All" and have been coming forward with their contribution from time to time to create an institution of educational excellence.

Through these columns, we thank and acknowledge the support of our donors for their generous contribution over the years. Your support and contribution plays an important role in helping Rajasthani Sammelan to achieve its mission of developing a community dedicated to achieving national and international levels of excellence in various fields of education.

Your generosity has significantly contributed and helped the students in various areas. Every donation that you make impacts the life of our students in some way or the other. Your contribution has helped us build various institutes of excellence with the best infrastructure that include state of the art computer labs, knowledge resource centre, communication centre, health centre, educational outlet, sports facilities and scholarships instituted for meritorious students. All our institutes have benefitted immensely from your support.

Undoubtedly, you as our esteemed donors have made Rajasthani Sammelan stand tall in stature and have helped it grow from time to time. Like you, there have been many others whose contribution to Rajasthani Sammelan way back in the early 1950s has been significant and notable. And we gratefully acknowledge their noteworthy contribution in setting up the edifice of this great institution.

We gratefully acknowledge the contribution made by Late Shri Kudilaji Seksaria who donated the land on which the current structure of Rajasthani Sammelan stands. This contribution cannot be valued in terms of money, and it would only undermine his contribution if we were to measure this in monetary terms.

At the same time, had it not been for the significant contribution of Rs. 50,000/- by Shri Brijmohan Ruia (Brijmohan Laxminarayan Ruia Charity Trust) way back around the year 1950, the landmark Sarvodaya Balika Vidyalaya would not have come up. A small dream way back in early 1950s has today paved the way for a number of institutions under the banner of Rajasthani Sammelan. As they say, "It all begins with a Dream".

We are proud to have you all as an integral part of the positive impact and an enduring legacy that we are creating at Rajasthani Sammelan. May your benevolence continue to bring about the change we wish to see in our educational system. We stand committed to spread our wings and fly higher. In this journey of growth, we seek your continued support.

We constantly endeavour to maintain accuracy in the list of donors and we thank you for the feedback in case of any discrepancy that has been noted. Should there be any errors or omissions in this list, we urge you to contact our Donations Officer on rs@rajasthani.org.in
