PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President's message

Dear Reader,

Swami Vivekanand had said 'Arise, Awake and Stop Not till the Goal is reached'. We at Rajasthani Sammelan Education Trust are in an unending journey of our educational endeavours. Our goal is to provide educational opportunities to maximum number of children and youth belonging to the new generation. Today more than 15,000 learners are coming daily in our campus to receive education in their respective institutions. Through our Kunjibihari S. Goyal Online Academy (GOLD), we are also reaching to students beyond the boundaries of our campus. Our network of institutions aim to fuse the strong cultural fundamentals of Indian Society with advance learning tools to give education an exciting and dynamic direction. I am positive that in times to come, we will continue this journey with elevated enthusiasm and persistently provide a platform of holistic learning to the young generation of learners.

The first term of this academic year is coming to an end. In the past few months, our institutions have reached many milestones and are aspiring to reach further. They have made us proud by receiving many awards, accolades and high rankings from reputed organizations for their high standard and excellence in education. Ghanshyamdas Saraf College has been ranked among the top three commerce colleges for B.com in Mumbai as per data released by Mumbai University published in Times of India Durgadevi Saraf Institute of Management Studies has been ranked among top 125 B-schools in India and as 10th Best B-school in Mumbai as per The Times B-school survey. DSIMS is also ranked 105th Best B-school in India and 8th Best B-school in Mumbai as per Business World Annual B-school survey.

In the preceding months, many faculty members from reputed universities of United Kingdom visited Durgadevi Saraf Institute of Management Studies and Deviprasad Goenka Management College of Media Studies for academic partnership. DSIMS successfully celebrated Foundation Day and Academic Inauguration for new batches of MMS and PGDM on 12th August, 2016 which was graced by Shri Ninad Karpe, MD & CEO Aptech Ltd. DGMSC has also noteworthy achievements to its credit. The Director and the Dean have been appointed as Member Board of Studies and other prestigious positions of reputed organizations and attended various seminars and conferences. Many faculty members from institutions of higher education presented papers at national seminars, were invited as Resource Persons and chaired sessions.

All our institutions from school to colleges, college of media studies as well as Draupadidevi Sanwarnal Women's Hostel came together to celebrate Independence Day in the campus in a colourful and disciplined way. The function was graced by Shri Ramprakashji Bubna, Trustee and Main Donor of RSET who hoisted the national flag. This was followed by a grand and interesting cultural programme revolving around the theme of patriotism. Many of our institutions celebrated Teachers Day on 5th September, 2016 in an innovative way followed by Hindi Diwas on 14th September, 2016 with cultural and literary programmes.

We have always encouraged and nurtured talents of our students in extra-curricular activities by giving them suitable training and also by instituting various prizes. Our students have in turn given us rich dividends by winning many prizes at interschool – collegiate events. Recently, the choir group of Kudilal Govindram Seksaria Sarvodaya School bagged first prize in folk song and second prize in sanskrit song at the interschool group song competition hosted by Bharat Vikas Parishad. Students of the primary section of Mainadevi Bajaj International School secured top international ranks at the 6th International English Olympiad conducted by Science Olympiad Foundation (SOF). Ramniwas Bajaj English High School won the Best School Award for Art and Hand writing awarded by Kalabharati Child Art Development Institute, Pune. In the area of social initiatives, students of Ghanshyamdas Saraf College organized 'Blood Donation Camp'. The Rotaract Club of the college participated in 'Free Medical Check-up Camp' & 'Tree Plantation' organized by various NGOs. The volunteers of the NSS unit of Ladhidevi Ramdhar Maheshwari Night College of Commerce celebrated NSS Day on 24th September, 2016 and exhibited their commitment towards society through songs and street plays on social issues.

Our Pravinchandra D. Shah Sports Academy ground is regularly utilized by our students and expert coaches are giving training to the students in various games and sports. Recently, a DSO level interschool basketball tournament was organized for three days in which teams from 68 schools from Mumbai participated. We have plans of establishing a Boys Hostel and are working for the project. Our project of establishing an autonomous Self-Financed University is also in progress. I appreciate the efforts of the editorial team and the creative artists who are doing an excellent job in compiling the activities of the Trust and also in an artistic manner and disseminating them through our quarterly bulletin Abacus.

HON. SECRETARY'S MESSAGE

Hon. secretary's message

Dear Reader,

It is said that 'If you want to go fast, go alone, if you want to go far, go together'. However, for going together, team work is required and I am happy to state that 'Teamwork' is the hall mark of our Trust.

It is a matter of great pride for us that the journey of educational endeavours started by our founding fathers has been successfully carried forward by our present team under the dynamic leadership of our President Shri Ashok M. Saraf. We are not only going together but we are also going at a fast pace. We have crossed successfully many milestones of spreading the light of knowledge and information through our educational institutions that mark our growth, unfold our imagination and give life to our thoughts and aspirations.

We have been able to provide best infrastructure, techno-savvy ambience, latest gadgets to equip one to stride with competitive fervor, ever increasing job oriented courses in our institutions of higher education, career counseling and rich knowledge resources in the form of books, journals, magazines and digital resources. We earnestly endeavour to help our students to realize their dreams and make them better human beings. We have appointed well qualified faculty members who are competent to impart quality education to our students & make them confident, smart, intelligent so that they can operate any where & in any part of the world. To motivate our meritorious students, we have instituted IRB Merit Scholarship while freeship is provided to students through BKT Endowment Freeship Fund & Janakidevi Bilasrai Bubna Freeship Fund.

In traditional system of education, knowledge is transmitted by the teachers to the students. Students are the passive recipient of knowledge transmitted to them and learning capabilities are measured by standardized examinations. However, recent years have seen many changes in educational system where education is becoming student centric. Students are becoming active participants in the learning process.

Preparation of projects by students have become an integral part in all stages of education. Also, high-tech resources such as multimedia technology, the internet, audio-visual facilities are provided to students to enrich their learning. Accordingly we have provided computer laboratories with high speed computers & other equipments required for present system of education to all our institutions.

We believe that the physical infrastructure present in any institution helps to create proper learning environment. Keeping this in mind, we have constructed new buildings with latest amenities for our institutions. At the same time we have taken care of renovating Ghanshyamdas Saraf College building. We have renovated the staff room of the college by providing state of the art ambience & by creating more space. Renovation work of the administrative office has also been completed and it has become operational. It consists of a state of art Research Cell, Principal's & Vice Principal's office as well as administrative office. All these areas are centrally air conditioned. We have also completed renovation of Kirandevi Saraf Centre of Excellence, comprising high-tech computer laboratories on the third floor of the college building.

Past few months have been full of interesting activities in our campus. Our RS-CA Study Centre & ICAI Extension Counter is running successfully & approximately 65 students pursuing Chartered Accountancy are registered with the centre. The centre is open from morning 8a.m. to 9p.m. for the convenience of the students.

All our institutions came together to celebrate Independence Day. This was followed by celebration of Teachers' Day & Hindi Diwas by our institutions. Along with various cultural & literary activities, students of our institutions have always been encouraged to participate in outreach programmes. In the past few months, NSS Volunteers of Ghanshyamdas Saraf College organized a blood donation camp & students of DLLE unit of the college visited Sneha Sagar orphanage in Kandivali to celebrate Friendship Day. Students of Social Work Club of Deviprasad Goenka College of Media Studies spent a day with HIV AIDS infected boys of Bless Foundation. Our school children also did not lag behind in social service. All the schools jointly collected a substantial amount to donate to the Leprosy Relief Work-India. They also donated useful items to Old Age Home & toys, clothes, school bags etc. to school children of remote villages.

Sports activities in our campus have received a great momentum through Pravinchandra D. Shah Sports Academy. Regular training is provided to students through expert coaches appointed by the Trust. The Sports Academy has also recently hosted DSO level interschool basketball tournament. We solicit co-operation and support from all our Trustees, well wishers and members to be part of our educational movement.

CEO'S MESSAGE

Dear Reader,

Jai Hind!!! We all; trustees, staff and students were witness to a very well executed 70th Independence Day celebrations on 15th august 2016 at RSET. The NCC Girls Parade and Flag Hoisting Ceremony were conducted to the perfection. The cultural programme thereafter was not just a performance on stage but it was the activity where each one was involved with heart and soul that showed the real patriotic feeling and the true respect for our country. A 3 Yrs. Student of RBHS gave a speech in impeccable English and the Full version of Vande Mataram sung by the senior staff have mesmerized the entire audience in Saraf Hall. Each and every School has contributed by their excellent performances that have won the hearts of all those who were present there. We were fortunate to have our trustee Shri Ramprakash Ji Bubna as our Chief Guest who had addressed the audience. Those who have missed this event can watch it on a video.

Three months of July, August and September were filled with many curricular, co-curricular and extracurricular activities. A large number of students from our institutions have won laurels, awards and rewards at various levels in various disciplines, the details of which can be read from the report of the Head of each Institution in succeeding pages. These achievements give us a feeling of Déjà Vu and also establish a fact that we are on right course in moving towards the vision of the RSET which is "To create positive change in society through our path-breaking educational excellence".

During this short span of three months many state of art infrastructural and administrative facilities have been planned and executed. New, fully air conditioned "Saraf College Staff Room", equipped with brand new furniture and enough storage area, will surely make the life of teaching staff much more comfortable. By augmenting this facility the management has ensured that the teaching staff of all colleges in the premises viz; GSSC, DSJC and LRMIC is motivated to contribute immensely in their noble profession of teaching. This set up has demonstrated a live example of the time sharing of the premises from morning 7 PM to night 8.30 PM by maximum utilization of resources. Similarly, the optimum utilization of resources has been put in to practice by ensuring that our state of art PDSA ground has been fully occupied from morning till evening by all the schools and colleges of RSET by meticulous planning and allocation of the time slots to all of them so that everyone can get benefitted in all sports activities.

A major decision has been taken during this quarter; the old Housekeeping agencies have been replaced by the new Agency viz; OCS whose brand value and position is known to be the top class in the country with all modern machinery of cleaning gadgets as compared to the age old methods of Zadu Botha. The entire fleet of these House Keepers is visible in the campus with their bright and colourful uniforms and the speed of execution of the work.

An impetus has been given to the Water Management System where we have ensured that both the domestic and boring water is available in plenty to all the institutions 24 x 7. Towards this facility, an additional bore well was dug up and connected; new pumps, motors, and control panels were purchased. A water management manual was made and a team has been set up to ensure that the water is made available to all, round the clock.

The improvement was brought in other support services also. BMS has been tasked to attend all the complaints in time bound manners by introducing the online open/close ticket system and its close monitoring on daily basis. Similarly, the security was tasked to allow only the authorized students and visitors only after proper identification. The weekly collective training to the guards was also introduced on regular basis. All the staff of security has been brought under the age of 40. The average age of the guards is not more than thirty years.

All said and done, knowing very well that one cannot keep boasting and rest on the past laurels, we as a RSET Team are continuously looking forward for aiming and achieving further improvements in next quarter to bring value addition to the existing infrastructure at RSET. We are sure and confident that we will not leave any stone unturned and will strive hard to move ahead to meet the aims and objectives of the management's goals of its Vision and mission.

Finally I just want to conclude by saying

"It takes 20 years to build a reputation and five minutes to ruin it. If you think about that, you'll do things differently"

Message from Director of Schools

Service at the heart of RSET

As the world becomes more and more competitive and globalized, the visions, missions and goals of educational institutions tend to get re-set to accommodate and reflect this modernization. The focus tends to be narrowed down to the percentage of students who pass board and university examinations, the toppers among these and the admissions that they get in reputed institutes of higher learning within the country and abroad. In the process what is sacrificed is a holistic sensitivity and response to some of the negative effects of this growth-oriented focus.

Philosophers from the great Gautama to present day have said that what is given to the community in the form of charity or service with expectations of returns, be they in the form of kind or recognition, is not true giving. We at Rajasthan Sammelan believe that compassion, which is part of true giving, needs to be cultivated from the earliest of ages in schools and colleges and hence we have strong humane elements as a part of our mission and vision statement. Our mission is to bring about positive change in society, nurturing thought leaders who will be agents of change, reducing inequity and building intellectual capital.

Moreover the fact that our mission and vision are not merely meant as lip service to be tucked away in a drop down menu of a web site or the institutions' publications is amply demonstrated, in the first place, by the home page of our web site. It does not showcase the academic and co-curricular achievements of our students, it does not boast the many trophies that our students bring home and of which we are very proud, but it shows our students in action as they try to bring about change in the world around them. It shows them planting trees, building bonds with auto rickshaw drivers, listening patiently to elderly people at an old age home and participating in an awareness campaign.

That service to society and a concern for the environment are a part of who we are is amply demonstrated in the activities that students of our schools are involved in as a part of their routine curriculum. In some of the joint endeavours across the schools we had our students, staff and heads participate in a cleanup drive at Juhu and Versova beaches which had been rendered inhabitable due to the garbage that lay strewn across them. Despite the arduous task and the early morning call made on them, our students and staff turned up in large numbers showing a commitment to the schools' desire to contribute to the Swachh Bharat campaign.

In collaboration with IDF our students collected old newspapers as part of the W2K (Waste to Knowledge) programme. The proceedings of the collection were then used to buy necessities for residents of ASSISI Bhavan, an old age home. All the four schools of the RSET also worked to collect over a lakh of rupees to help eradicate leprosy. Visits to old age homes and Daan Utsavs are a common practice at our schools.

We do have very good infrastructure in our schools and we are also happy to share it with those who are deprived of it. Hence, as an ongoing service programme we have students of BMC schools visiting us to learn computers, songs and dances. I have listed only a few of the service initiatives that we are involved with and the others include teaching English to support staff, adopting railway stations for maintenance and a variety of drives to raise funds and goods for economically and socially marginalized people.

The intention of my message is not to give a listing of the good deeds that we at Rajasthan Sammelan Education Trust are committed to but to spread an awareness of what we do in the hope that we inspire others to follow suit.

The month of October began by bidding adieu to rains and welcoming the dry and bright climate of autumn. It has also brightened our hearts as we all are awaiting to celebrate Diwali, the festival of lights. We are indeed reminded of the beautiful description of autumn by John Keats, the British Romantic Poet of the nineteenth century in the opening verses of his famous 'Ode to Autumn'.

"Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness,
 Close bosom-friend of the maturing sun;
 Conspiring with him how to load and bless
 With fruit the vines that round the thatch-eaves run;
 To blend with apples the moss'd cottage-trees"

With the month of October, the first term of the academic year is coming to an end. Students as well as faculty members of all institutions are busy with examinations. However, they are getting ready to enjoy a long vacation after the examinations & are awaiting to celebrate the festival of light. Past few months, especially the month of August has been a great month for Indian Sports. Sports stalwarts Dipa Karmakar, P.V. Sindhu and Sakshi Malik delivered stellar performance at Rio Olympics leaving the Indian spectators spell bound. Social Media is replete with proud messages dedicated to these remarkable women appreciating their physical and mental strength. Back home in our educational campus, we can also proudly boast of our Pravinchandra D. Shah Sports Academy that is Playing an active role in nurturing talents of students of all institutions in various games and sports. Expert coaches have been appointed in the Sports Academy to provide free coaching in football, basket Ball and many other games from morning to evening. We are sure that in future students trained at PSDA will become national and international players and will make us proud by their achievements.

On 5th of September, institutions in our campus celebrated Teachers Day to honour and acknowledge the contribution of teachers in helping and moulding the careers of students. This year, our schools celebrated Teachers Day in an innovative way. All the teachers were taken to the beach resort "Nandanvan" of Shri Vinodji Podar, member Managing Committee for picnic which was enjoyed by one and all. Other institutions also celebrated Teachers Day by organizing cultural functions. It was a great experience to observe students' zeal to entertain their beloved teachers. We also celebrated Hindi Diwas in our schools and colleges by organizing various literary activities. Our institutes of higher education successfully promoted research work in the field of commerce, management and media studies. Many faculty members were actively involved in attending seminars and workshops & have presented research papers in reputed journals. They have also attended many national seminars and have chaired the sessions. Some of the faculty members have also been awarded Ph.D degree. In recent months, we received many circulars from State Education Department especially for Aided Schools. One such important notification was to install biometric attendance system for students and teachers in order to continue to receive salary and non-salary grants. The decision to introduce biometric attendance system was taken by the Government to crack down on bogus teachers and students on a school's roll. Most schools in Mumbai do not have biometric attendance system and hence the Government has started installing the same. However, in our campus the biometric attendance both for teachers and students have been installed long back and both are using the same without any hassle.

At Ramdhar Maheshwari Career Counselling Centre, regular career assessment tests were conducted for students to understand their strengths and suitable career options. RMCC also organized a presentation for IBDP students of Mainadevi Bajaj International School by an official of Nanyang Institute of Management, Singapore, regarding various courses offered by the institute, the admission criteria followed by placement opportunities on completion of undergraduate and post graduate studies. Kunjibihari S. Goyal Online Academy (GOLD Academy) has been continuously putting efforts to make the online content more interesting and interactive so that it remains in student's mind for a long period of time. GOLD Academy has also started the gap analysis between the syllabus of Mumbai University and six other universities so that it can also reach out to students of other universities.

Teaching-learning in our institutions is a combination of value based education with modern teaching learning methods to produce a generation of well informed and emotionally sound youth. I am positive that in times to come we will continue this journey with elevated enthusiasm and will persistently provide a platform of holistic learning to the young generation of learners.

On 12 August 2016 DSIMS organized the Foundation Day to welcome the students of the new academic year. – The event was to mark the Academic Inauguration for the 6th batch of PGDM and the 7th Batch of MMS.

With the invocation of Goddess Saraswati and lighting of auspicious lamp, the event commenced with the welcome address by Mr Ashok Saraf, President RSET and Chairman DSIMS. His invaluable message to the students is that there is no substitute of hard work. It is the hard work which leads one to achieve success. He also advised students to focus on the right direction and not to change their goal frequently. Success will be at their feet if the students continue to pursue their goals with dedication and integrity. Mr. Saraf ushered the new batch of students to the rich legacy of the sixty seven year old Rajasthan Sammelan Education Trust (RSET), of which DSIMS is a pivotal institution to create leaders for Indian businesses.

Director General, DSIMS and DGM, Dr N M Kondap portrayed the DSIMS' journey from the very inception, which had been punctuated with many transformations in terms of academic, administration, research and publication, faculty and student development with social sensitivity deeply embedded as a core value. He also apprised the audience that the efforts put in by the DSIMS fraternity have already started reaping dividends, reflected in the BMA's Best Student Award conferred to Sonal Lohiya (MMS Batch 2013-15) and nomination of Dr Sharad Kumar's (Dean) Research paper in AIMS Competition. Dr Kondap reiterated that under the aegis of Remsons Centre of Management Research, DSIMS have started focusing on building a research culture with a vision to scale the outcome through high caliber research publications in peer reviewed Journals, workshops in frontiers areas of business research and symposiums in Management

Sciences. In the vertical of corporate relations and talent transfer, he reported that more than 250 companies participated in the Placement process which signifies a substantial improvement over the last years. He stated that DSIMS is initiating the dialogue with the corporate for Faculty- Executive Exchange and Industry Immersion Programme which will create an opportunity to apply concepts into practice and vice versa. Dr Kondap recounted that DSIMS believes in systems and procedures with flexibility and to ensure the same, DSIMS operationalized the Manual for Institutional Guidelines. He also informed that DSIMS is devotedly working towards receiving the National Accreditation like NBA and NAAC. He fashioned the word 'Complete Student' and to transform this idea into action, some special initiatives by DSIMS like LIM/MIM (Leaders/Managers in Making) and rural sensitization have started giving dividends in the form of positive feedback from the corporate recruiters.

Mr Ashok Saraf presented the Ghanshyamas Saraf Gold Medal for academic excellence to Ms Akansha Gagar (PGDM batch 2015-17) and Durgadevi Saraf Medal to Mr Rohit Singh (MMS batch 2015-17). The above recipients received the award with a cheque of Rupees twenty one thousand each.

Following the award distribution, there was the address by Chief Guest Mr. Ninad Karpe, MD & CEO of Aptech Ltd, a global education company, which has trained more than 7 million students over the last 28 years and now operates 1300 plus centres in India and China, as well as 40 emerging countries. Mr. Karpe previously served CA Technologies, the world's fourth largest software vendor, as MD covering India & SAARC countries. Mr Karpe is a regular blogger and serves as an independent director on the boards of a number of public companies.

Mr. Ninad deliberated on human-technology interface and envisioned the kind of synergy which it can bring for the advancement of our society. He envisaged some newer technological trend which can act as disruptors. He envisaged that by the year 2020 video will replace text/ email messages. He conveyed that robots are now getting to personal and social space, and he anticipated that by the year 2030, we would experience that all the menial work would be getting done by Asimo of Honda and other kind of robots. Mr. Ninad deliberated on the work life balance of the new era, which is highly demanding in the form of fast response and for that one needs to be connected all the time. He talked about Gig economics which is an environment in which temporary positions are common and organizations contract with independent workers for short-term engagements. The trend toward a gig economy has begun. There are a number of forces behind the rise in short-term jobs. In this digital age, the workforce is increasingly mobile and work can increasingly be done from anywhere, so that job and location are decoupled. It means that freelancers can select among temporary jobs and projects around the world, while employers can select the best individuals for specific projects from a larger pool than that available in any given area. By citing the example of aggregators Ola, Uber and Air bnb, Mr. Karpe affirmed that modern digitized economy is based on trust and feedback driven platform business. Referring to an article published in Fortune magazine, Mr Ninad avowed that some of the most valuable assets for 21st century are openness to new ideas, integrity and imagination. While concluding he advised students to focus on their takeaways from DSIMS which offer the best in class facilities, enabling environment and committed professors to nurture young minds and eventually transform them to socially responsive business leaders.

After a brief student interactive open session, chief guest presented the awards to the deserved students for excellence in academics and co-curricular activities. Like every year, this year too the 70th Independence Day of our country was celebrated by all the institutions of RSET in its educational campus on 15th August, 2016. "Life is like a multiple choice question; sometimes the choices confuse you, not the question itself"

If the parent had 100 choices to choose from their children today have 1000! It's always good to have many choices; however it often makes the choice of choosing the right one challenging. Students with plethora of options need guidance and understanding to make the right choice so that they enjoy and succeed in their career. RMCC has been conducting Career assessment test for students to understand their strengths and the suitable career options. The Career assessment conducted at RMCC administers a battery of test which gauge student's Interest, Aptitude, verbal and non-verbal skills and personality. These tests help students to know their area of strength and weakness. The counselor in the individualised session advises students of the possible career options and the path to reach to desired option. The counselor further helps students with ways to overcome their weakness and enhance their strengths.

RMCC has been providing information to students on various platforms to equip students for a better decision. Ms. Namita Lotlikar, Country Manager (India), Nanyang Institute of Management gave a presentation to the students of MBIS regarding the various courses offered by their Institute and the admission criteria on 23rd August, 2016. The students got an insight of the curriculum and pedagogy of the Institute overseas. Ms. Namita also shared the placement opportunities post undergraduate and post graduate programs from their Institute.

A workshop on Mastering Group discussion and personal interview was organised by RMCC on 24th September, 2016. The workshop helped students to understand how to Ace their Group discussion and Personal Interview to get their dream job. The session taken by our senior counselor was well appreciated and helpful to students.

RMCC has been visiting other institutes conducting Career counseling and Overseas counseling seminar. Seminar was conducted for the students of Thadomal Shahani Engineering College regarding various Post graduate programs post engineering. The counselor gave information about the eligibility criteria, courses from best Universities and the job prospects. Planning and working early is always beneficial. Some parents truly understand this and assist their children at early stage. Children who are slow learners have been coming to centre for skill enhancement and play therapy. The children not only build their skill but also enhance their confidence tremendously.

With burden of studies and competition students need assistance to cope up with strenuous educational requirement. Personal counseling sessions for stress and anxiety management and time management have been conducted at the centre. RMCC being a one stop solution for all career needs provides all support, service and guidance to each and every student so that they have a successful and satisfying career.

We had our new students joining us from 1st all of them were really excited regarding their stay in the hostel and explore new vistas of their life. The C.A. result added cherry on the cake as most of our students had successfully cleared the groups:

a) CPT: Ms. Shreya Rathi, Ms. Rajul Pareik, Ms. Kanupriya Devnani, Ms. Sakshi Ramukaand Ms. Ritul Maheshwari.

b) C.A. FINAL: First group cleared by Ms. Vibha Sahal, Ms. Divya Patel and Ms. Ameya Maheshwari our Alumni students Ms. Itishree Agarwal, Ms. Sakshi Kogata also successfully cleared their C.A. Final. All the students were back from their vacations and they were looking forward to commence a new journey in their respective fields. The response received was tremendous with a long waitlist and motivated us to work even harder. At the end I would like to conclude by saying that the month has passed by swiftly and the discipline and decorum of the hostel was well maintained. DSWH has consistently considered welfare of the students by providing a conducive atmosphere for growth of our students has always been our foremost objective. All the students were well settled in the hostel and enjoying the phase of their educational life. Our Institution has always taken an initiative to provide our students enough opportunity to enhance their extracurricular skills as well.

Independence Day Celebration:

Our students participated in the celebrations held in our campus.

1) Ms. Poorva Malvi, Ms. Bhavya Meratwal, Ms. Saloni Haritwal and Ms. Poorva Malvi sang the song " Ek Too hi Bharosa " on the occasion.

2) Ms. Saumya Lakhotia, Ms. Radhika Gaikwad, Ms. Khushi Sethia, Ms. Vellari Parihar and Ms. Khushi Somani gave a dance performance on the songs a) Desh Rangila b) Saadilbhitu which received applauds from the audience. The Month of September has been a swift month. They all were busy in their respective schedule and internals.

They were also in festive mood because Ganesh festivities were on. They all had maintained the decorum of the Hostel by abiding by the rules. Most of them had gone home in vacation and were back with a more optimistic approach.

LEARNING BEYOND BOUNDARIES

Established in 2014

GOLD
academy provides convenient, affordable & accessible way of online learning to aspiring learners.

It is rightly said by Katja Bressette, "To understand how consumers really think and feel, it is vital to go beyond words."

Goyal Academy is continuously putting efforts to make the content more interesting and interactive so that it will remain in students' mind for a long period of time. And the advantage of this interactive content should reach to each and every students of the country.

Goyal Academy is started climbing the ladder of reaching all students. But before reaching to students, GOYAL Academy should be ready with the complete product to serve.

On the same lines, GOYAL Academy is started the work of Gap Analysis. In this process, we are trying to find out the gap between the syllabus of Mumbai University and six other open ended universities of Maharashtra.

Why Goyal Academy had chosen universities of Maharashtra?

Reason is, syllabus of all Universities of Maharashtra is more or less similar, and therefore, after covering the syllabus of Maharashtra, Goyal Academy will spread its wings outside Maharashtra.

The purpose of doing the Gap Analysis work was to find out the number of additional topics in six different universities and estimated time required to develop content on these additional topics. On an average, by comparing Mumbai university with the other six universities, broad analysis shows that between 50 – 80% curriculum overall of Mumbai university BCOM is already a part of the curriculum of other universities. This shall help our content development process whereby Gold academy can prepare content which shall be scalable and utilizable across multiple universities.

Along with gap analysis work, Goyal Academy also working on completing the past projects. The projects of creating content of different subjects of B.Com of Mumbai University which includes script writing, PPT preparation, voice recording and mock questions.

Gold Academy had also conducted the online survey with the IDOL students across three years of B.Com and two years of M.Com.

Some general questions (in MCQ format) such as "how will you prefer to use elearning study material, how frequently you would like to attend live lectures using internet, How frequently should IDOL do assessments tests, would you like IDOL to provide low cost academic purpose laptop etc.," were set in the questionnaire for the students to answer.

GOLD Academy had received 3511 students' responses in this survey during 9 days span of time. Around 80% of the respondents expressed interest in adopting online as also one of the mediums of learning. Even though IDOL students currently rely on printed material as the sole reference for learning, when asked about their outlook towards live online lectures, 50% of the respondents showed willingness to attend lectures at least once a week. Similarly half of the respondents showed comfort to give the assessments online either through online portal or mobile app.

With so many new prospects coming up in the near future the GOLD team is get ready to bring learning content and advance the learning experience for students across various universities!

Maharashtra Public Universities Bill: Will it ever come!

The current educational system even though has evolved over a period of time, its ability to address the present days requirements are always debatable. There is a need to take stock of the current educational system and to tune it to the fast and ever changing globe by means of the elimination of current deficiencies and the introduction of novel strategies.

A cohesive framework that connects rigorous traits and skill development, that creates excitement in students is essential if all students are to meet and exceed these higher standards. Part of developing the receptivity of students to learning is the creation of meaningful opportunities that link curriculum with work-based experience that:-

- Support their academic studies.
- Open their eyes to the expectation of employers.
- Enhance the development of technical skills.
- Create an understanding that lifelong learning is linked to their future career opportunities.

To make the students competitive in tomorrow's global economy, we must totally revamp our current educational system and develop new strategies to educate the future students better. To accomplish this, we must raise our educational requirements and reach the students served in our schools in new and more effective ways. The necessity to continually adapt to a changing environment and the importance of actually participating in and directing the change around us, demands the rejection of the traditional way of teaching and the adoption of new emerging strategies in our educational set up.

Higher Education sector has witnessed a tremendous increase in the number of Universities/ University Level Institutions and Colleges since Independence. The number of Universities has increased 34 times from 20 in 1950 to 677 in 2014. The sector boasts of 45 Central Universities of which 40 are under the purview of Ministry of Human Resource Development, 318 State Universities, 185 State Private Universities, 129 Deemed to be Universities, 51 Institutions of National Importance (established under Acts of Parliament) under MHRD (IITs - 16, NITs - 30 and IISERs - 5) and four Institutions (established under various State legislations). The number of colleges has also registered manifold increase of 74 times with just 500 in 1950 growing to 37,204 - as on 31st March, 2013.

The quantum growth in the Higher Education sector is spear-headed by Universities, which are the highest seats of learning.

Higher Education is the shared responsibility of both the Centre and the States. The coordination and determination of standards in

University of Mumbai

Universities and Colleges is entrusted to the UGC and other statutory/regulatory bodies.

The Central Government provides grants to the UGC and establishes Central Universities/ Institutions of National Importance in the country. The Central Government is also responsible for declaring an educational institution as "Deemed-to-be University" on the recommendations of the UGC.

At present, the main categories of University/ University-level Institutions are:- Central Universities, State Universities, Deemed-to-be Universities and University-level institutions.

A Commission was constituted to review the working of the Universities and to make recommendations on certain terms of references in relation to making Higher Education oriented towards supply of man-power commensurate with the needs of the society, improvement of the standards, to become self reliant for mobilization of resources, to assess the contribution of the teaching fraternity and so on.

In pursuit of enforcing a few of its specific recommendation it became expedient to effect certain structural alterations in the universities, to confer academic freedom and autonomy conducive for adoption of new methods in teaching learning and research for achieving eminence and excellence; and also to tune-up the administration. It has therefore become imperative to enact a new legislation for governance of the universities replacing the existing Act.

Public Universities, inspite of the trend for privatization of education, are playing and would continue to play an important role in shaping the future of millions of youth in Maharashtra for decades to come. They need to be endowed with the enabling legal provisions that promote innovations in learning and understanding processes, cultivate a research and development culture and help students to imbibe appropriate knowledge, values and guiding principles relevant to the 21st century and leading to betterment in life and wealth generation. In addition, the clever and innovative use of technology in all aspects of educational institutions is a tool to liberate them from the shackles of the past and embrace the challenges of global opportunities.

The real challenge is to create an enabling structure for good colleges to become autonomous and thereby "empower" them to shoulder the responsibility of becoming a part of the degree giving authority. Public universities, by their very nature, do depend on Governmental support; however, they have to be very prudent in the use of tax payer's money by adopting financial discipline. They have to be accountable to all the stakeholders in a transparent way. They should devise innovative strategy for augmenting their finances through optimal use of their academic, research and development and physical infrastructure. The Government, on its part, needs to adopt new and time-independent approach for funding public universities. This document presents a generic Act, which provides a basic framework for achieving the above mentioned objectives of the contemporary educational system, to manage academic, financial and administrative operations of eleven public universities in the State of Maharashtra in an open, transparent and flexible manner.

Education, in general, and higher education in particular has become extremely important in the 21st century, mainly because of its linkage with the economy. A new relationship has emerged between education-knowledge-conversion of knowledge into wealth-economy of a nation and socio-economic transformation. The challenge has become more interesting (and complex) because of the impact of technologies (communication, computer and broadcasting revolution) on every component of the education system: access, equity, relevance, quality and governance of education. For developing countries, these aspects acquire a different dimension, as they are the first victims of digital divide. It is therefore very essential, to understand the ground realities in these nations and to visualize the changes that could be made in the education system in these countries, in the light of globalization of the economy (and education).

We, in India, are hovering between two identities: the developing nation and the emerging nation. We have maintained a healthy economy growth rate, averaging about 8% of GDP, for the last 12 years. This happened because we were able to ride on the wave of the knowledge related industries. The percentage of the middle income to super rich families has reached the 40% level, but those who are either poor or fall in the lower middle class category are around 132 million families; a staggering number for an emerging nation. The challenge is to make such a large number of youth productive for economic growth. The higher education infrastructure, therefore, needs to be expanded significantly. Higher education is an essential social as well as economic infrastructure for an emerging nation like India.

The first identity, i.e. social, is an age-old identity. Higher education, under this identity, has become more a tool for gainful employment which makes the life of individuals and their families better. In a sense, it is an approach for removal of poverty. However, it succeeded partially only in producing an appropriate and useful skilled human-power for industry, for science and technology, for the creation of basic social (education, health, nutrition, food, shelter) and economic infrastructure (agriculture, energy, water, transport, communication), and for better social and administrative governance.

The second identity, i.e. economic, is a new one, acquired in the last decade or so. This happens mainly because of: the acceptance of

Mumbai University Gate

Indian graduates, in all disciplines and subjects, at the global level as value-added-skilled human-power at the premier level. India is now recognized as a nation with a potential to give "knowledge creators" to the world economy, and that changed economic environment as a result of twenty years of reforms in the domain of finance. In the last two decades, professional education, across India, has been privatized in the existing legal structure, namely that of the affiliating State Universities, by creating a space for self-financed institutions. The public institutions in professional education are as low as in single digit on a percentage basis. The domain of general education, which is predominately public, is the most popular amongst the poor and the lower level middle class families as it is affordable to them.

In the light of the above, what type of legal structure should one have for State Universities that would fulfill the aspirations of our main stakeholders; namely the students, the parents and the employers? Before we address this question, we need to visualize the present scenario, which is presented below, on the institutions of higher education. We have public and public-private institutions and they are in the general education domain. In recent times private-public institutions are on the rise and they cater mostly to professional education. The State Government has introduced the private-public concept both in the professional and the general education domain through the Private University Act.

It must also be realized that the larger section of society is unable to have access to the private-public institutions, the self-financing colleges and the Deemed-to-be Universities, on account of financial constraints. We need to realize that it is a very wrong perception that general graduates are of no consequence in vibrant economies. It is true that in the last few years graduates in professional education are at the vanguard of the economic revolution. However, the battle on the economy front, in future, would be really won by the general graduates with appropriate domain-specific-skills. The reason for such an argument is reflected in the pattern of elements that have contributed to the GDP growth of India in the last five years. It is the service industry, which moved from 49% to 59% contribution in GDP, that is opening large opportunities for general graduates with domain-skills in various service related industries; health, transport, insurance, banking, personal finance investment, housing physical infrastructure, communication, media, entertainment, educational institution management and several other aspects connected with human life. The point to be noted is that the public universities still have a major role to play in these new types of economies. However, today public universities are under a cloud of non-performance.

The perceptions of the public and to certain extent that of the Government may be of an extreme nature and those working in the colleges and universities have a different story. The major lacuna that the academic community faces is the rigidity in the legal framework which constrains free and flexible working in the university environment at academic, administrative and governance level. There is also a feeling that the Government is slowly pulling out, as regards providing funds, for the public higher education domain. It is reflected in the grant-in-aid that is provided to institutions of higher education; it just covers the salary component of the institutional budget. There is also an unhealthy financial discrepancy amongst the teacher community that has emerged through the existing triple salary structure that presently exists in many of the aided general colleges. There is faculty that gets full sixth pay advantage, there are teachers who get fixed salary and there are teachers who are paid on clock-hour-basis charge. One can imagine a very depressing environment that may prevail in "the staff room" in colleges where people, who do the same type of work but get payment at three different levels, come together to discuss reforms in the domain of education. This certainly affects the quality of teaching in colleges. Moreover, the Government has stopped giving development grant to colleges in the last few years and it also falters in giving "fees-grant" for reserved and economically backward communities in time. The public system, presently, in the true sense, is doing acrobatics while retaining their identity as "creators of educated knowledge force" for a vibrating and emerging nation like India; they need to handle an increasing number of students that come to them, they get feeble financial support and they operate in a legal structure that is completely out of phase with the changing times.

However, keeping in mind the massive changes that are taking place in the global higher education scenario in the 21st century, there is an urgent need to progress, adapt and innovate to keep up with international educational standards. For this purpose, since

Mumbai University Library

2010, the Government of Maharashtra have been formed several Committees to find out the pathway for transforming higher education into a socio-economic and scientific development.

1. The Anil Kakodkar Committee (23rd August, 2010) to suggest long term strategies to improve quality of higher and professional education. The Committee submitted its report to Government on 26th August, 2011.
2. The Arun Nigvekar Committee (23rd August, 2010) to draft a new Act for governance and management of State Universities. The Committee submitted its report to Government on 23rd November, 2011.
3. The Ram Thakwale Committee (23rd August, 2010) to suggest ways and means for managing large number of affiliating universities through sub-centres. The Committee submitted its report to Government on 23rd November, 2011.

Garware Institute of Mumbai University

4. The Mrs. Kumud Bansal Committee (28th January, 2012) to compile and review the reports submitted by The Anil Kakodkar Committee, The Arun Nigvekar Committee, The Ram Thakwale Committee. The Mrs. Kumud Bansal Committee submitted its report to the State Government of Maharashtra on 29th May, 2012.

5. To obtain the views of stakeholders on the proposal, The Maharashtra Public Universities Bill, 2015, State Government appointed a Committee under Shri Vinod Tawade, Hon'ble minister of Higher and Technical Education, on 23rd September, 2015.

The Maharashtra Public Universities bill was tabled in the Winter Session of the Maharashtra Session of the Maharashtra Assembly in December, 2015; however discussion could not take place. Therefore, it was decided in the Assembly itself that there is a need of extensive discussion, debate, examine in detail, suggestions and study of various sections of the Bill, 2015. In view of this, the Assembly unanimously took the decision to appoint a Joint Select Committee of 21 members from Vidhan Parishad (Upper House) and Vidhan Sabha (lower House). The purpose was to suggest strategies to develop and improve the education and administration of the State Universities.

The Maharashtra Public Universities Bill provides a unified pattern for the long term strategies for enhancement of the relevance and quality of higher education so as to meet the challenges that are emerging in the 21st century. The purpose of the Bill is to chalk out a realistic strategy so as to transform the universities of Maharashtra State into a truly excellent place of teaching and learning, research and innovative ideas for the students and teachers. The object of the Bill is to provide an excellent education in a true sense of inclusiveness while respecting regional identities.

It means the Bill focuses on the issues and challenges facing the higher education. A comparison may be made here between the Maharashtra Public Universities Bill, with the ongoing process of drafting a National Education Policy undertaken by the Ministry of Human Resources Development (MHRD) by the Government of India. As is stated on the MHRD website (<http://mhrd.gov.in/nep-new>), "The National Policy on Education was framed in 1986 and modified in 1992. Since then several changes have taken place that calls for revision of the Policy. The Government of India would like to bring out a National Education Policy to meet the changing dynamics of the population's requirement with regards to quality education, innovation and research, aiming to make India a knowledge superpower by equipping its students with the necessary skills and knowledge and to eliminate the shortage of manpower in science, technology, academics and industry." This is a lofty and timely aim that is shared by the Bill. The MHRD is attempting a collaborative practice by "embarking on a time-bound grassroots consultative process, which will enable the Ministry of HRD to reach out to individuals across the country through over 2.75 lakh direct consultations while also taking input from citizens online." In this way, it is paying attention to the needs, desires and demands of the stakeholders even before the policy is drafted, as well as to the recommendations of expert committees. This would, arguably, make for a more flexible and adaptable policy drafting process. If the Maharashtra Public Universities Bill also incorporates the learned suggestions and critiques of both experts and stakeholders, it will make for better, more balanced and more equitable policy-making.

The Committees have looked into all these aspects in a holistic manner. It has created an open and simple legal structure, fixed the functions, duties and powers of the authorities and Officers more precisely, brought into the picture self-defined and self-controlled accountability in the system, integrated technology in every aspect in organization and administration of academic and other functions of the system, created a stand-alone (but retained obligatory link with authorities that are custodians of academic standards) autonomous, accountable and technology driven examination system. We have protected the democratic participation of the academic community in various bodies but also have seen that the right persons with the right credibility enter the system. We have strengthened the Office of the Vice-Chancellor by giving him a Statutory Advisory Committee with experts in various aspects, that form the integral part of the contemporary universities of the 21st century; namely efficient administration; open governance; vibrant academic environment that—

- i. Encourages the use of ICT in delivery of education,
- ii. Focuses on research and development that creates environment for industry participation and encourages entrepreneurship,
- iii. Encourages exploration of new streams for financial resources and
- iv. Facilitates creation of education and Research and Development.

We have also brought in the concept of an internal quality assessment mechanism with an additional element of judging the social development index. The aspects related to Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) and entrepreneurship creation, across colleges and university campuses, are linked with business and industry in a novel way through the creation and cultivation of an environment which allows innovative ideas to be translated into working models through a process of incubation which shall finally lead to creation of enterprise. We desire that there be a uniformity in academic structure; hence we have recommended a credit based modular structure across all the universities. This would allow the students to take courses from different universities, give them freedom of mobility and to get a joint degree from two universities.

Department of Education at Mumbai University

The colleges that have got 'A' grade or 'B' grade with Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) above 2.5 in NAAC assessment (or equivalent Grades from recognized assessment and accreditation agency) should be declared as autonomous institutions by the University. We have propagated the concept of "empowered autonomous colleges", recommending that Colleges identified by the UGC as colleges with potential for excellence in teaching and any other colleges that the University finds that have potential of "excellence" be allowed to give degree jointly with their parent university. One can also create "Empowered Autonomous Cluster Institutions" if any Education Society has a group of autonomous colleges. It is, indeed, a step towards creation of mini universities (and thus releasing the pressure of the affiliating structure) exclusively concentrating on relevant and quality education with focused research in teaching and delivery methods or in the field in which expertise exists in the college. We recommend the creation of "empowered autonomous professional skills development colleges" (EMSKID) in the university system. These would be run on the same premises as that of the "general education colleges", with an additional academic, technical and physical structure if necessary, and they would run Certificate, Diploma and a Associate Degree level programs in skills development in various domains. We have, in addition, recommended the creation of stand-alone independent EMSKID colleges either by the existing educational institutions or in collaboration with Private Skills Providers.

We have also addressed the issue related to financing of institutions of higher education. The fee fixation committee is now integrated in the Act and we have suggested a new way of funding the colleges and universities. The strategy is to integrate real cost of education in fee-deciding structure, enhance several innovative revenue sources for colleges and universities, work out a new approach for funding the State and create Higher and Professional Education Finance Corporations (HIPEC). We have recommended the creation of the Maharashtra State Council for Higher Education and Development (MAHED), an umbrella body to plan, to shape, to co-ordinate, to supervise, to devise use of technology and to raise finances for higher education. We feel that many of our recommendations that are integrated in the Bill itself would be of great significance to the Higher Education System in the State. We believe this would make the system more reliable, accountable and better equipped to handle the challenges of 21st century. We also believe that we do not have the luxury of time: We must act now and commit to fine-tuning and midcourse corrections as we go.

The domain of higher and professional education is going to expand and would become critical for the progressive economic growth of the State. There are two functions that a system of higher education needs to focus on: one is to create new knowledge and this means never to lose the focus on doing and sustaining good research, and the other create enlightened youth who have a solid foundation in the basics and are also good in applying knowledge to address problems connected with human lives. The first function, calls for the universities to concentrate on pure and applied Research and Development in fundamental core subjects and application oriented knowledge domains. The other function is linked with millions of families that cover the wide spectrum of income, right from no income to very rich and those whose aspirations are on the rise. Thus there is a need for the relevant and quality education with appropriate skills. The research and development domain requires creation and sustenance of a vibrant environment, where creativity is nourished and respected irrespective of one's social and economic identity. This is a difficult task and it involves a very small percentage of youth who have inclination for challenges, but the society and the nation has to see that such a scenario does exist and does survive. The other task of producing value-added-trained human power and this now has very interesting options for achieving the desired objectives. The very domain of delivery of education is now dependent on the blending of face-to-face and e-learning mechanisms.

Classroom teaching is enhanced by multi-media Learning objects; this approach is well understood but least followed by the teaching community. Interestingly those in the skills training, and this is mostly private ICT players who are technocrats, understand this new role for the teachers. They create multi-media Learning objects that could form a strong base for modern coursework. The challenge is building a bridge between the academicians (community slow in absorbing the change) and the experts (community which is not very familiar with the teacher-students learning chemistry) in the private ICT companies to create a new synergy. It is here that there emerges enormous scope for fundamental and applied research in e-learning pedagogy. Today the student community, irrespective of their physical location, because of the easy access to broadband and their own command over communication technologies, has itself become a self-learner. The teachers therefore have to become facilitators for learning of pure and applied knowledge.

The university system itself needs to change; in its administrative mechanisms, in its governance processes. It is difficult for universities, and it would also be a futile exercise, to keep abreast on its own with such an avalanche of reforms in the academic and the professional education. The State thus has the daunting task of balancing such varied aspects of modern education and the dynamic Research and development environment. It has to create an over-arching policy for the entire higher education sector and it also needs to have an umbrella organization which would plan and co-ordinate its implementation across the State. Today the State has such an organization namely Maharashtra State Council for Higher Education, but it is mostly dormant. We are reviving it with a new title Maharashtra State Commission for Higher Education & Development (MAHED); recommending it an umbrella role at policy and operative level to fulfill the expectations of the five major stakeholders namely the students and the parents, the faculty and the non-teaching staff, the employers and the society, the State in the new world of the 21st century. We have created MAHED with well-defined functions, roles, powers and membership.

The proposal is to make the MAHED an independent legal entity with appropriate autonomy. It would be funded by the State. It would be run by academicians, scientists, technocrats, business and industry experts, and financial experts. It would become a conduit for funding of the public universities by the State Government. It would decide upon necessity for expansion and if satisfied grant permissions for the expansion and creation of colleges and their academic programs on the recommendations of a particular university. It would have powers to address the grievances of teachers and employees, and also the grievances related to the admissions and fee structure. MAHED would be link of the State with the MHRD and various other Education Decisions Making Councils in the field of higher and professional education at the Centre as well as with the NITI AAYOG. Thus MAHED would be the prime entity that plans, works on the funding policy, creates an operative structure for the education system and monitors the growth and the quality of the education system as a whole, for the State. Secure a sustainable grant-in-aid for the Public Higher Education Institutions (HEI) and create mechanisms for the financial support to HEI's for enhancing their academic and physical infrastructure and for financing students.

The healthy sustenance of the public education system is always a big challenge in a growing economy. This becomes a more difficult proposition when it comes to higher and professional education. In recent times, the emergence of professional-education-graduates as drivers of the economy and governments policy of recognizing self-financing as a necessary imperative due to larger financial demands at the primary and secondary levels, has drastically reduced the Government's financial inputs to the general education and thus put it on the back foot.

The general education system, producing graduates in pure Sciences, Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences and Commerce, grew in the first four decades after the independence with the Governments financial blessings and continue to grow as the dominant partner in the higher education domain. The reasons for such an identity are obvious; ample availability of admissions at a affordable cost. The majority of the Indian families with poor, low, lower middle, and middle income, and the percentage of such families is as high as 80%; go for general education under forced economic circumstance. Because of this the public colleges and general education gives universities a role and would continue to play the important role of providing higher education to the deprived community even in the future. While they would be primarily dependent on the public exchequer; they need to become autonomous, academically innovative and also devise streams to generate the finances. This requires competitive financial structure which allows the Higher Education Institutions to become pro-active in fund raising. We suggest three level approaches. Firstly, use the fee fixation process for professional degrees to work out the cost of general degree. Hence, we recommend the Fee Fixation Committee as an integral part of the new Act. We have developed a new approach for giving grant-in-aids to the public colleges and the Universities. A note "New approach for funding the public colleges and the universities by the State Government" is attached as an Annexure 3. In addition we recommend innovative mode of long term funding for the higher and the professional education institutions in the State. A note entitled "Higher and Professional Education Funding Corporation (HIPEC)" is also integrated in the Annexure 3. We believe that such a proactive novel approach to fund the public Higher Education Institutions' would go a long way in making the Public education system more self reliant.

We must recognize and accept that whether it is the conventional or the distance education system, the challenges of access, equity, relevance, utility and quality of the outputs are the same and need to be faced in totality. The new Education Act, therefore, envisages the effective and complementary use of the conventional, Open and Distance Learning (ODL) and Learning-through-technology systems in the learning processes. These systems must be made mutually compatible and exchangeable.

It is well known that the origin of the social distance is in the life style, in the work culture and the family background of the learner, and it affects the academic readiness, the learning ability and the learning style of a student. In India, the economic and the social background of the family of the student plays an important role while choosing the medium of instruction at the school level. The result is that in the conventional system at an entry-level, one lands with students with unequal academic background and different order of readiness to shoulder the challenges thrown by the very demanding higher education system. We must remember that equalizing access does not necessarily bring in the equality of chances of success for all the learners. The time has therefore come to dispense with the concept of fitting the conventional education in the rigid frame of +3 years, and go for the modular academic structure with flexible approach of adaptive pace of learning with minimum and maximum duration for the completion of a degree or other similar programmes. We are aware that this type of reform demands mindset change in the case of all the stakeholders; but we do wish to flag such a need for change, as this is the future, and we recommend that MAHED should work very diligently to make this change happen. We therefore have put this as one of the prime function of MAHED.

Measures within the bill speed up the transformation of our Higher Education standards. It will also help in removing bureaucracy and academies can operate under strict system of accountability. The bill will also see more colleges becoming effective academies - transforming the higher education system by giving power and responsibility to colleges to spread excellence everywhere.

Also the long wait times for the bill implementation will loose its essence and true value for empowering our academic structure. The new proposal will also ensure proper standardization in academic processes with one uniform body monitoring the system.

The time has come to bring about meaningful reform in our system - now or never. Remember failure to act on a bill is equivalent to killing it.

The Arun Nigavekar Committee Report (2011) expressed the hope that public universities "would continue to play an important role in shaping the future of millions of youth in Maharashtra for decades to come". In conclusion, if all the provisions and innovations envisioned by the Bill are implemented in the right spirit, this Bill has the potential to be, to quote Arun Nigavekar again, "a pathway for transforming higher education into a socio-economic development force" teaching us the significance of practicality & morality.

I wish as I grow in my career, I can also see the Institution reaching heights where few have set foot to. Always a DSIMS-ite by heart.

WE CREATE LEADERS

PV Advertiser

Thank you Donors

Our family of donors include illustrious business families, individuals, corporate partners, foundations and all those people who are committed to our philosophy of providing "Quality Education for All" and have been coming forward with their contribution from time to time to create an institution of educational excellence.

Through these columns, we thank and acknowledge the support of our donors for their generous contribution over the years. Your support and contribution plays an important role in helping Rajasthani Sammelan to achieve its mission of developing a community dedicated to achieving national and international levels of excellence in various fields of education.

Your generosity has significantly contributed and helped the students in various areas. Every donation that you make impacts the life of our students in some way or the other. Your contribution has helped us build various institutes of excellence with the best infrastructure that include state of the art computer labs, knowledge resource centre, communication centre, health centre, educational outlet, sports facilities and scholarships instituted for meritorious students. All our institutes have benefitted immensely from your support.

Undoubtedly, you as our esteemed donors have made Rajasthani Sammelan stand tall in stature and have helped it grow from time to time. Like you, there have been many others whose contribution to Rajasthani Sammelan way back in the early 1950s has been significant and notable. And we gratefully acknowledge their noteworthy contribution in setting up the edifice of this great institution.

We gratefully acknowledge the contribution made by Late Shri Kudilalji Seksaria who donated the land on which the current structure of Rajasthani Sammelan stands. This contribution cannot be valued in terms of money, and it would only undermine his contribution if we were to measure this in monetary terms.

At the same time, had it not been for the significant contribution of Rs. 50,000/- by Shri Brijmohan Ruia (Brijmohan Laxminarayan Ruia Charity Trust) way back around the year 1950, the landmark Sarvodaya Balika Vidyalaya would not have come up. A small dream way back in early 1950s has today paved the way for a number of institutions under the banner of Rajasthani Sammelan. As they say, "It all begins with a Dream".

We are proud to have you all as an integral part of the positive impact and an enduring legacy that we are creating at Rajasthani Sammelan. May your benevolence continue to bring about the change we wish to see in our educational system. We stand committed to spread our wings and fly higher. In this journey of growth, we seek your continued support.

We constantly endeavour to maintain accuracy in the list of donors and we thank you for the feedback in case of any discrepancy that has been noted. Should there be any errors or omissions in this list, we urge you to contact our Donations Officer on rs@rajasthani.org.in.
