

Archaeology a less developed feild of India

Our nation India is also called as the Land of Gods and History. Because it has many historical monuments buried under the ground. So for finding their remains and their proofs we will have to do digging or in the words of archaeology "excavation".Till the date we had only found few cravings and mythological remains and well known from them is the Harrapan civilization but it was also not found by us or our people it was found by Britishers.

It shows that how much we lack in the field of Archaeology. No one even has a slight idea which kind of secrets are hidden long beneath us. So we should make efforts and take interest in this field. It helps us to know about the Ancient Indian culture and history which will help us in understanding the functioning, patterns and the way of the people who lived in our Ancient India. And may even help our government for development of Tourism and Who knows which treasures would we find here?

So we need to consider this problem that we are lacking in this field. And this will help us to know more about the culture and civilization of our nation India. And even it has Shown that there is a interrelation between Greek mythology which is also considered one of the most important mythologies and our Indian mythology or history and this makes it more interesting so we get one more reason to develop this department which will also help to gather the mistakes done in the past by our ancestors.
