LEARN AND INSPIRE

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR INNOVATIVE TEACHING PEDAGOGY FOR GEN Z

Teaching is a joyful profession; at the same time, it comes with many challenges. Particularly, the young GenZ learners are good at many things; unfortunately, they also struggle with minimum attention span.

This young generation has the proverbial "attention span of a goldfish" which is at mere eight seconds.

Can it be reversed? Certainly. Students should develop 'the art of selective attention'. The teachers play very important role to garner learners' selective attention through his or her innovative pedagogy. Immersive learning, in and outside the classroom with deep engagement, brings meaningful learning for students community. Innovative teaching is the panacea for any dedicated teacher through many interesting teaching tools such as gamification, role-plays, case studies, off the classroom projects and team assignments.

This short workshop attempts to have a discussion mode interaction eliciting rich experiences of the participants, particularly those who are teaching GenZs. It is very important to understand the issues of current generation that is plagued by information overload, illusion of multitasking and fear of missing out.

Objectives of the FDP

1. To equip faculty members with necessary skills and techniques for teaching Gen Z.
2. To understand the concepts and application of active and experiential learning.
3. To facilitate critical thinking and communication with the young generation.
